Introduction

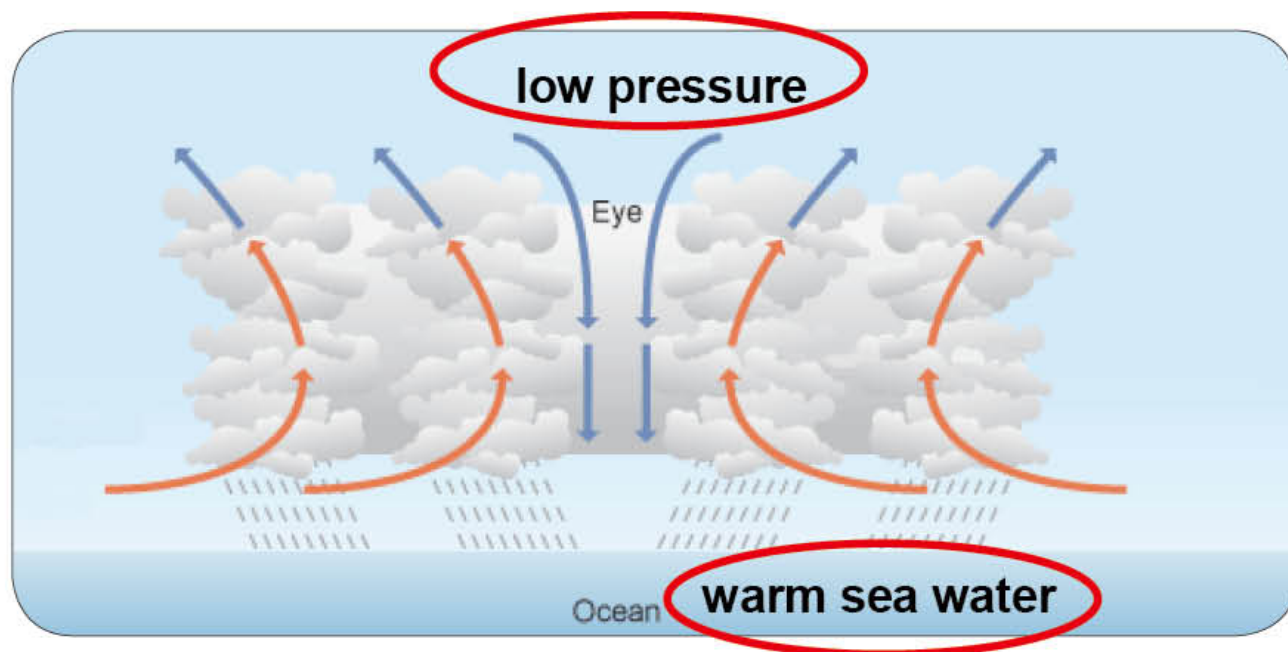

Timmy has an assignment on typhoons. Grandpa is asking him test questions.

Hey, Grandpa. Ask me some questions about typhoons.

OK. So, how do they get started?

Well, it's all about low pressure air meeting warm sea water.

Oh, so they're like tornadoes: it's all about different types of air.

Timmy

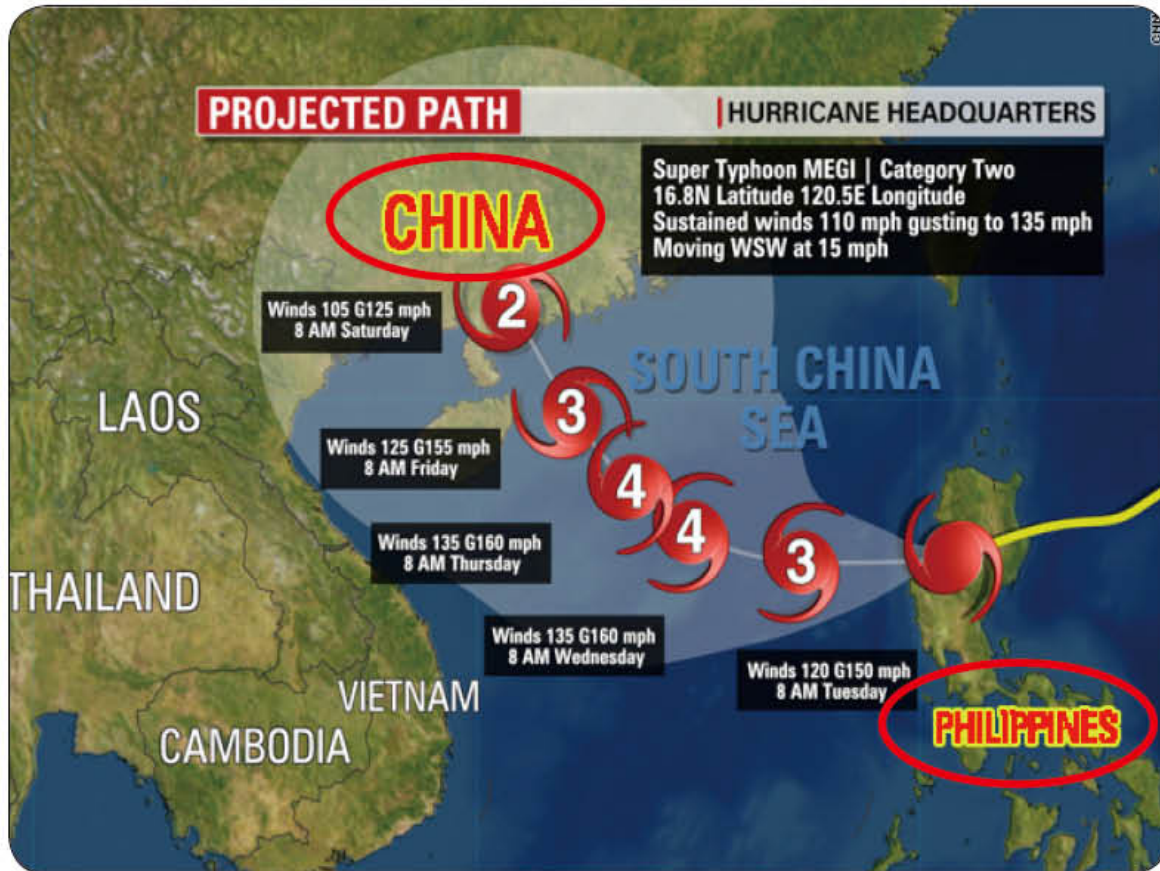

Yes, except typhoons happen on the sea and are much bigger: around 30 miles wide.

And those things go on for days too. There's always so much damage when they hit land.

Grandpa

Timmy

Yes, especially in the Philippines and China. There's often lots of flooding.

Wow, you sure know a lot! You're going to ace that test!

Grandpa

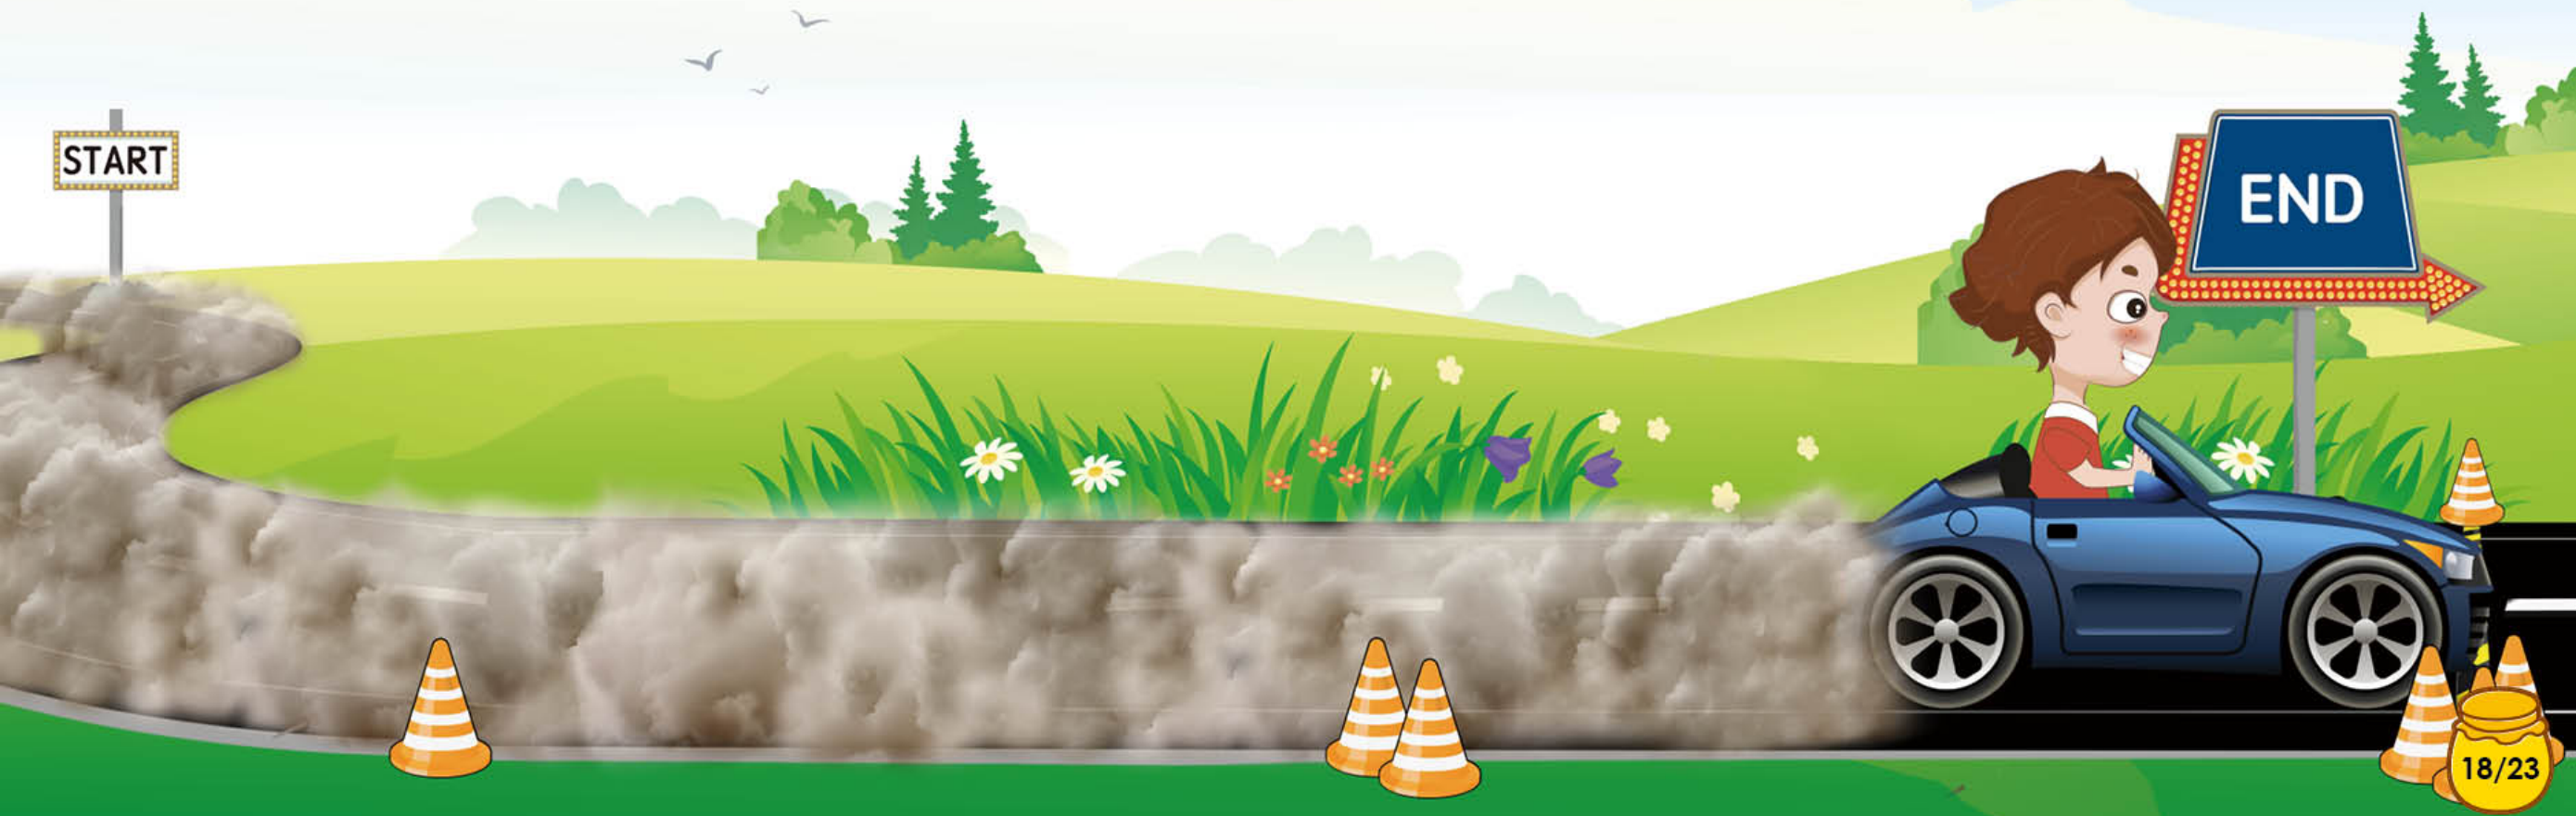

Yeah. I hope so. It's all about remembering all the facts.

That's not a problem for you!
