Which is an individual sport?

Let's read!

People love to play sports. For many people, watching and taking part in games is their favorite thing to do.

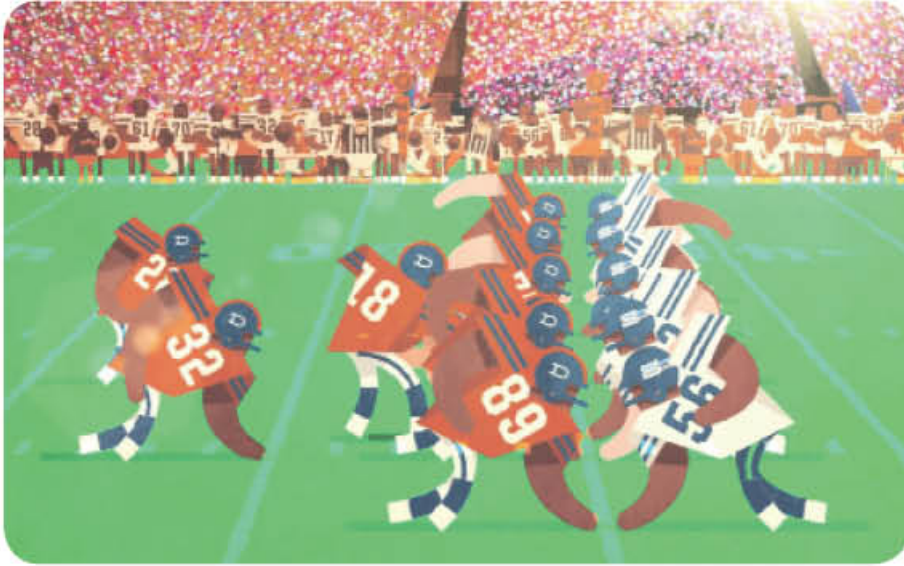

What do many people love to do?

The most famous sporting event is the Olympics. Every four years, more than 200 countries meet to take part in the Summer and Winter Games. In these games, athletes try their very best to win.

What is the most famous sporting event?

People have been playing sports for a very long time. Playing games well takes a lot of skill. Most games have goals and rules. People need to achieve the goal while following the rules. This makes the game fair. Without these two things, we could not play sports.

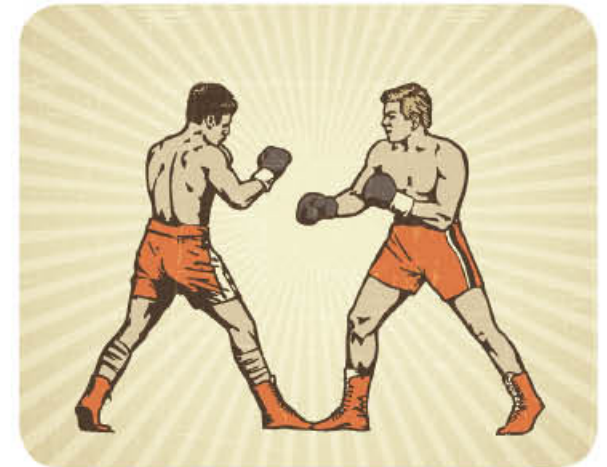

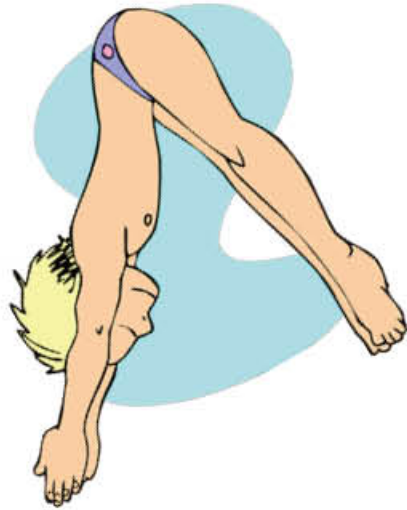

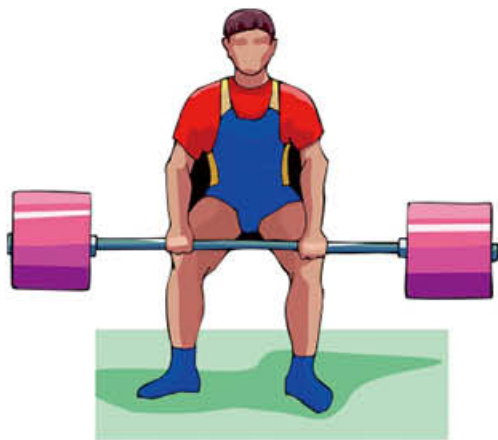

Why do people need goals and rules when they play sports?

Some of the most popular games are called team sports. This means that two groups of people will play against each other. Of course, there can only be one winner, which creates an exciting competition. People that play team sports must be very good at working with others.

What is a team sport?

Many people also play individual sports. This means that the person plays a sport without anyone else on his or her team. Sometimes individual sport players will play in turns, such as in weight-lifting or diving. Other times they may play against another person, such as in tennis or boxing.
