Introduction

Jimmy is showing Timmy how to solve a math problem. But Timmy looks very tired.

Grammar

Present simple

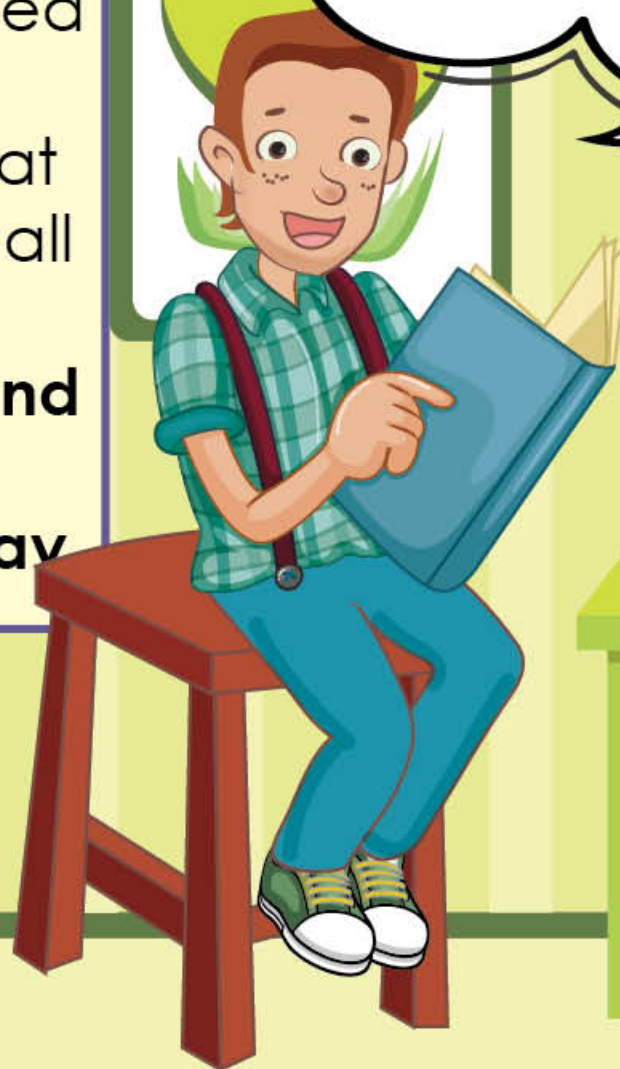

The present simple is used for things that are true in general, or things that happen sometimes or all the time.

e.g. The earth goes round the sun.

I drink tea every day

Timmy, you are yawning again! You yawn every time I explain the solutions to the math problems.

Sorry. But I can't help it. Math just makes me feel so tired...

Come on, chin up!
Try to solve this problem using the method I just told you.

Alright.
Let me try again...

Ha-ha! Look at the frown on your face! Still can't figure it out, huh?

No... The result I get is 1.5, but how can there be 1.5 students in a classroom?

Oh well, perhaps you should take a break. I'll explain it to you again when your mind is clearer.

Thanks so much,
Jimmy! I promise
I will buy you 1.5
ice creams!
