Look and talk

Look at the animals and answer the questions.

What color are these animals usually?

How do they usually move from one place to another?

Look and talk

Look at the picture and say why this planet is strange?

What color is the sky on our planet?
What color is the sky in this planet?

Teaching notes: 1. Point to the picture and say: This is a planet with many strange things. It is different from our planet. Can you tell me the differences?

2. Ask more questions to lead the student to talk more about the strange things in the picture. (The student needs to say 5 strange things at least. Encourage the student to use comparative.)

Look and talk

Match the sentences with the animals.

This is my new boat.
Do you like it?

Do you want to play
games with me?

I've just had a really delicious meal!

I love flying
above the clouds!

I can fly higher than the horse!

Let's read

William went to Magic Planet and film a program. Let's read the passage.

This is a strange planet which is different from ours. The sky is yellow and the clouds are red. But I like them more because both are my favorite colors.

The leaves on the trees are blue but they taste good so animals here like to eat them.

Let's read

Look! The mouse, the fattest animal in this planet, just had a really delicious meal! The horse and elephant are smaller than those on our planet. They enjoy flying above the clouds. The swan has got a new boat and the frog is playing in the trees like a monkey.

Everything in this planet looks fantastic!

Free talk

Answer the questions and have a free talk with the teacher.

Would you like to film a program about a strange place one day?

What would you like to film?

Talk about the strangest place you've been to or sound you've heard.
