Let's talk!

Introduction

Timmy and his dad are talking about the bank.

Dad, where are you going?

I am going to the bank. Do you want to come with me?

Grammar

Helping verb (be)

The verb "be" can be used as a helping verb when it comes before the main verb.

e.g. I am taking a bath.

They are going to play football.

Can we go to the ice cream store too?

Sure. But we need to take some cash first.

We can use an ATM.
It will be very quick.

But maybe we will still have to wait in line. The bank is a boring place.

That's too bad. I will have to eat some ice cream all by myself.

I forgot about the ice cream! Why didn't you say so? I will go to the bank!
