Direct speech

In direct speech, the exact words of a speaker are quoted. The exact words are placed in quotation marks (“ ”).

Examples:

- ★ John said, “Let’s go to the cafeteria later.”
- ★ “Can you help me with my homework?” asked Anne.

Can you make a sentence using direct speech?

READING SKILL

Sequence

When we sequence events, it means we put them in the correct order that they occurred in a story.

Can you arrange the following sentences in their correct sequence?

- ☐ The librarian told them that the short story books were on the shelf beside the newspaper stand.
- ☐ Timmy and Xiao Wang were going to the library. They needed to borrow books for English class.
- ☐ After getting the books they need, Timmy and Xiao Wang went back to their classroom to prepare for English class.
- ☐ At the library, Timmy asked the librarian where they can find the short story books.

• LET'S READ! •

Which of these do you see in a ball?

INTENSIVE READING

THE BIG WINTER BALL

One cold winter night, Timmy received a package in the mail. The tag said "To Timmy." Inside of the package was a black suit, a black bow tie, and a note.

The note read: We invite you to the Big Winter Ball.

"What's a ball?" Timmy asked his mom.

"A ball is a very fancy event where everyone dresses up and dances," replied Timmy's mom.

The next day, the children talked at school. Everyone had received invitations to the ball and agreed that it sounded like a lot of fun.

“It’s a good idea, but I’d prefer to wear a silk kimono to a gown,” said Cindy. She thought kimonos were beautiful.

“I don’t like wearing suits. They’re too formal,” said Timmy.

“I won’t wear a suit to the ball,” laughed Sam. “I think suits are silly.”

What happened before the children talked about the ball?

It was snowing on the night of the ball. Timmy didn't want to wear the black suit and bow tie, but his mom made him.

"You need to wear fancy clothing to the Winter Ball," said Timmy's mom.

"OK, I'll wear them," said Timmy. He put on his black suit and bow tie.

Timmy was happy that his mom had made him wear the clothing. Everyone else wore their suits and gowns. However, Sam wore blue jeans and felt very embarrassed.

The boys and girls danced around the ballroom. They drank fruit punch and ate pizza. Soon, it was time to go home.

"I can't wait for the Winter Ball next year," said Cindy with a smile.

"Me too ... Next year I'll wear a suit," said Sam quietly.

WRITING PREPARATION

Put the pictures in the correct order based on the sentences below.

1. Timmy received a package in the mail. He received a black suit, a bow tie, and a note inviting him to the Winter Ball.
2. The next day, the children talked about the invitation. Sam said he will not wear a suit to the party.
3. Timmy didn't want to wear the black suit and the tie, but his mom made him. This is because guests in the Winter Ball have to wear formal clothing.
4. Everyone wore suits and gowns at the ball. Timmy was thankful that his mom made him wear formal clothes.

WRITING PROJECT

Number the pictures in the order they happened in the story.
Then, write and retell the story.
