Let's read!

Students study many subjects at school. These subjects are designed to help the students get ready for the next step in their lives: work. Choosing the right job is a very important decision. Work is a massive part of our lives and most people spend at least 40 hours a week at their jobs!

Why is choosing a job very important?

A good job should match a person's skills. If you do not have the right skills for a job, then the chances are you will not succeed.

For example, an accountant should be good at math, a soccer player should be good at soccer, and so on. If someone does not have the right skills, then he or she is less likely to do well, and of course will not be happy.

What should an accountant be good at? Why?

You should consider your interests when choosing a job. Which subjects do you enjoy studying at school? What are your hobbies? Are you part of any clubs? These can help you decide on which job to choose.

For example, if you enjoy art at school and are also creative outside of school, then you may like to become a painter or similar when you grow up.

What type of people may like to become a painter?

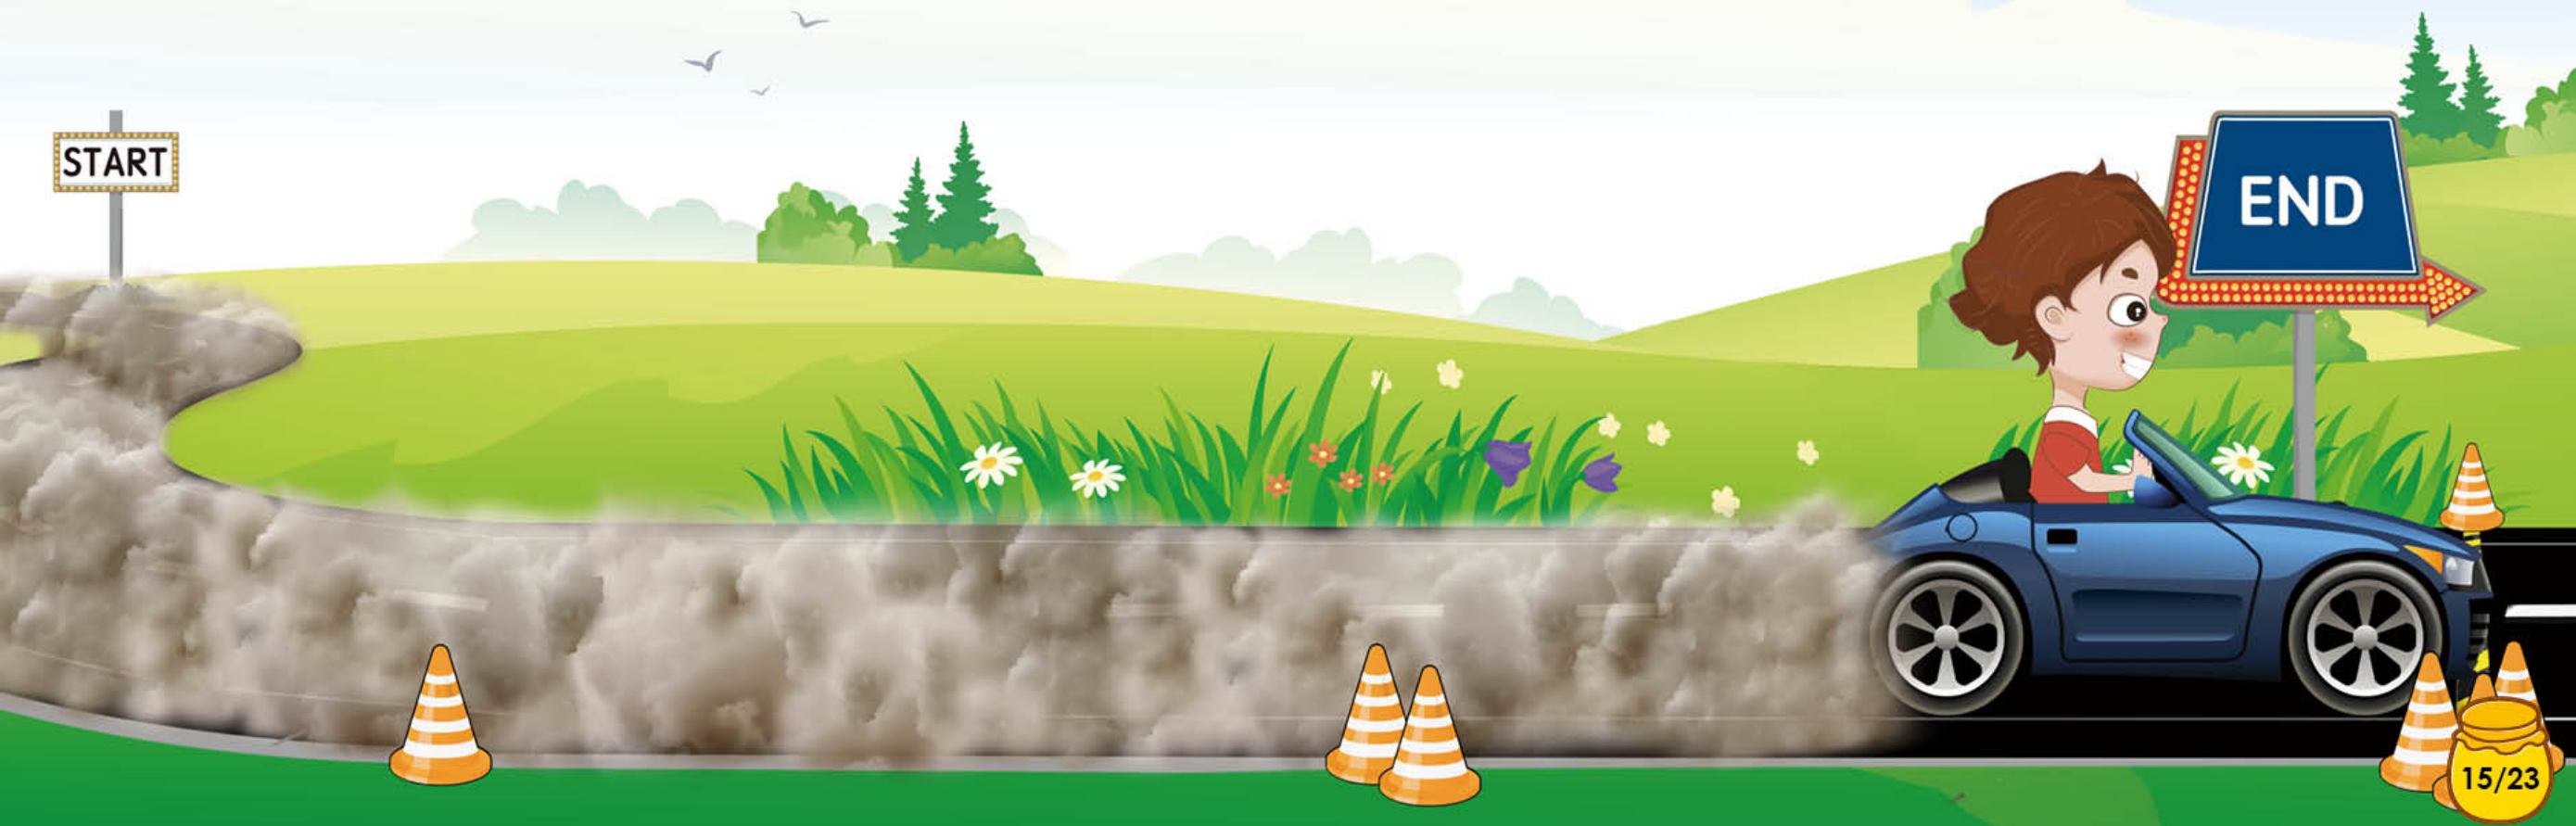

Keep an open mind when you choose a job. It's sometimes difficult to be able to decide on your "dream job". If you do some research and talk with your family and teachers, then you might get an idea. But if not, try a few different jobs – there are lots out there. That's part of the fun of being an adult!
