'We have to take pens and write about the birds there. Perhaps bears, too!' Betty said. 'And my friend and I are going to look for a big, dark cave with wild bats and huge furry mountain monsters inside! We don't get frightened by things like that!'

'Well, it sounds scary to me,' Grandpa laughed. 'But you're brave! Tell me more!'

'Well, we have to take things for washing,' Betty answered. 'But my friend and I are going to wash outside. We can clean our dirty faces in the rain!'

And we have to take things for eating, like forks and spoons, but my friend and I are going to put sweets and chocolate biscuits in our rucksacks too, so we can have midnight snacks. And we're going to put beetles in Bob's trainers and spiders in his bed!

'I'm not going to tell you that, Grandpa,' Betty answered. 'It's a secret!'
