GRAMMAR

The present continuous tense of the verb has many uses.

In this lesson, it's used to show an action that is happening now.

We add -ing to the end of a verb to show the present continuous tense.

cook + -ing = cooking

Mom is cooking.

play + -ing = playing

I'm playing with my friends.

The girl is _____.

CONVERSATION

The children are preparing for a barbecue, but Timmy is fishing.

Timmy, are you busy?
We need you.

Sorry, I'm fishing! It will be good for us to have some big fresh fish.

That sounds good, but we've already got enough food.
Just come and help us cook.

All right, I'll join you right after I catch a fish.

Come on, Timmy! Everyone is hungry. We can do it more quickly if you give us a hand.

OK, OK, I'm coming. What a pity!
I can feel the fish is taking the bait.

See, you helped us a lot.
Our barbecue is ready now.
Let's enjoy it!

Wait a moment!
Let me check my fish again ...
Oh, look! What a big fish!
