When a light passenger plane flew off course some time ago, it crashed in the mountains and its pilot was killed. ¹ The only passengers, a young woman and her two baby daughters, were unhurt. It was the middle of winter. Snow lay thick on the ground. The woman knew that the nearest village was miles away.

1. The only passengers, a young woman and her two daughter, were unhurt.

➤ apposition (同位语): a grammatical construction in which two elements, normally noun phrases, are placed side by side, with one element serving to identify the other in a different way

E.g. (1) This is Mr. Black, director of our hospital.

(2) George Bush, once the American president, was the governor of Texas.
