

JOURNEY to the WEST 99

Squire Kou's Vow

The monster yelled from inside the cave.

“We ate the Tang Monk!

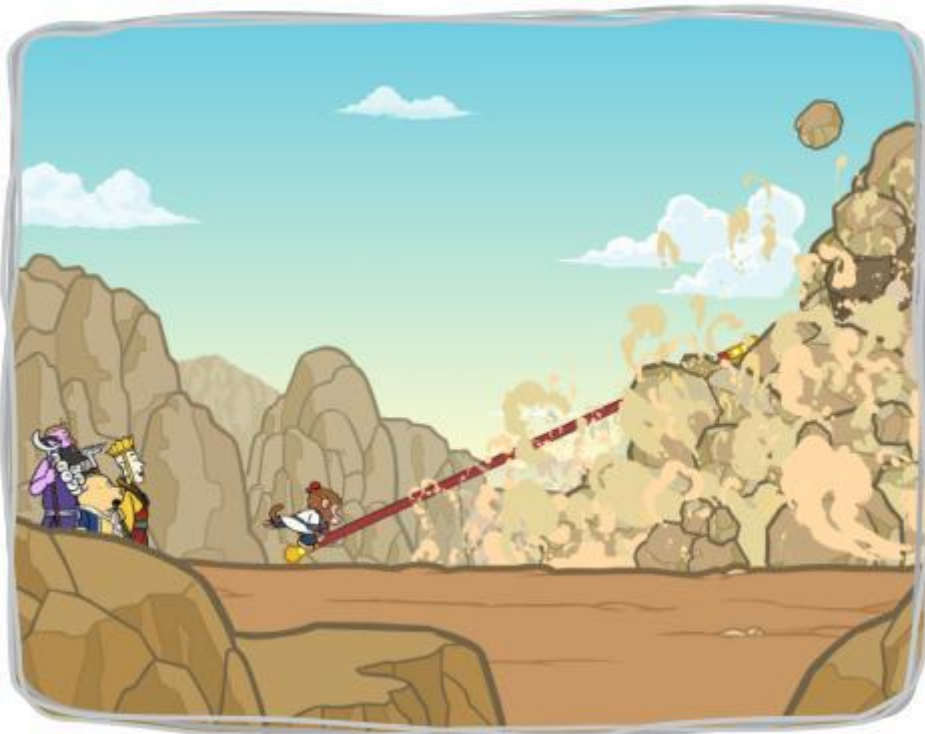

The monkey turned into a moth and flew into the cave.

He soon found the Tang Monk

Wukong and the monk came out of the cave.

Bajie and Wujing were thrilled.

Wukong pulled out his iron bar.

It grew until it was the size of a very tall tree.

Weeks went by, and the travelers arrived in a small town.

They saw an old monk walking down a street.

The travelers arrived at the squire's gate,
and a servant let them in.

"Thank you for inviting us in, Squire,"
said the Tang Monk.

That evening Squire Kou held a feast.

Everybody in the town was invited.

The travelers sat with the squire and his wife, Lady Kou.

The squire' s eyes lit up.

“You are special guests! I can’ t let you leave!”
