

JOURNEY to the WEST 44
The King's Ghost

The man walked into the Tang Monk's room. . .

The king nodded. "It rained for days, and. . .

Suddenly I felt someone push me in. . .

The Daoist made himself look like me. . .

“How can I help you?” asked the Tang Monk. . .

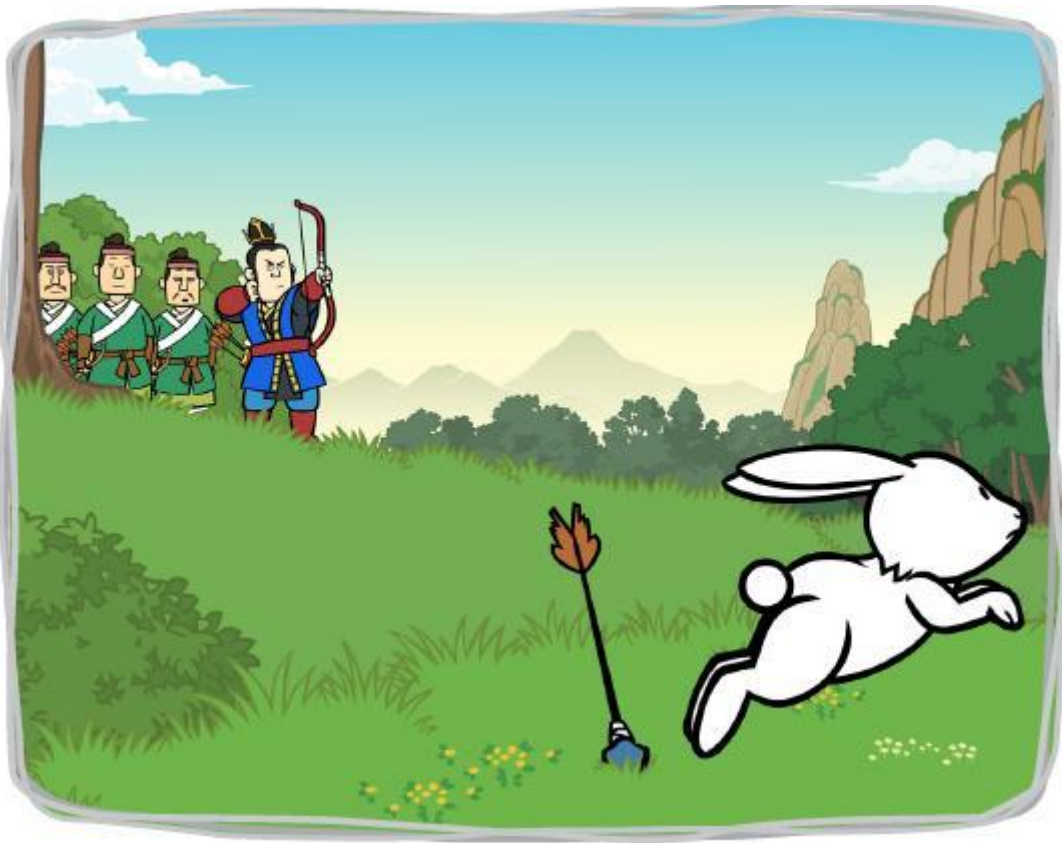

“Where can we find the prince?” asked the monk. . .

“Show him this.” The king held up a jade coin. . .

The monk told them everything that the king had said. . .

The next morning the prince went out hunting. . .

Inside, the prince saw a monk, a pig, and a purple spirit. . .
