

51Talk IELTS Speaking-Advanced 雅思口语高级
——冲刺 7.5 分

Unit 11 Education

Topic 1—Lesson 1(上篇)

A short course

I. Pronunciation Practice (2 minutes)

Sound Reductions

Reductions occur when sounds are reduced or completely eliminated in words when spoken. There are three changes that may occur to the word 'of'.

Read the following sentences and pay attention to the word 'of'.

1. He likes some of the books. ('some uh')
2. Most of all, you can't drink. ('most uhv')
3. He's out of money. ('oud dah')

II. IELTS Speaking Part 1 (8 minutes)

Extend your answer to 3-4 sentences. It's easier to get 7.5.

1. Imagine you are a candidate in the IELTS test. The teacher is an examiner. Please answer the questions below with what you have learned to develop your IELTS answers. (4 minutes)

Will peoples' buying be greatly affected by advertising?

Which TV channel do you usually watch? Why?

What are the bad effects of advertising?

The examiner will score your answer from the following aspects:

1. How good you are at keeping talking at the right speed and connecting your ideas together;
2. How much vocabulary you have and how well you use it;
3. How many structures you have and how well you use them;
4. How well you pronounce the language.

2. Read and learn the following key words and models for the IELTS Part 1. You are suggested to apply these words in the following steps. (4 minutes)

Key Words and Models

hear sth. through the grapevine

 Example: People's spending and buying habits will be affected far more by advertising than by their hearing about products through the grapevine. Normally, this is because it is quite rare to find that your friends or family know everything about all products. Therefore, advertising fills this emptiness by constantly and perhaps annoyingly keeping you submerged in advertisements of all kinds, be it on TV, online, on billboards, or in magazines.

scratch the surface

 Example: The TV channel that I actually watch the most of is the History Channel. I love this specific channel since it covers topics more in depth than in a classroom. Normally, when you learn about history in school, they only teach you the essential information, which barely even scratches the surface in most cases. The History Channel really serves to feed my addiction to gaining deeper knowledge about famous events in the past like WWI and WWII.

aspire

 Example: I suppose that the negative effects of advertising are felt most by teenagers. More often than not advertising geared towards teens focuses on physical attractiveness and beauty. These advertisements include commercials for clothes, cosmetics, weight reduction and fitness, so they often give teenagers an unrealistic self-image to aspire to and can lead to low self-esteem.

III. IELTS Speaking Part 2 (12 minutes)

1. Brainstorm. Plan your answers based on the given questions. (1 minute)

Describe a short course you took or would like to take.

- Why did you take it?
- What was it?
- What was the exact content of the course?
- What did you learn from the course?

Tips: During the first stage of Part 2, you don't need to talk. Keep the questions in mind and think them over.

2.1 Here is a model for the IELTS Speaking Part 2. We will focus on the words and expressions highlighted and in red below. (8 minutes)

Model 1

Why took it: In fact, I have always been fascinated with philosophy, so when an opportunity to take a course on it for half the normal price, I jumped on it. For me, this subject allows one to develop deep analytical thoughts on a variety of topics and satisfies my thirst that is curiosity about the world around me.

What it was: This short crash course was titled Philosophize This: A History of Philosophy.

What content: The course covered the basics of Western and Eastern philosophy starting from Socrates to Confucius and all the way up to Herbert Spencer. The content was so encompassing that I cannot do it justice in my recounting of it now. Suffice it to say that the topics were highly enlightening.

What you learned: First and foremost, I learned the value of critical thinking and using logic to solve problems. Also I learned that throughout time man has often pondered his place in the universe and although philosophy somewhat changes from generation to generation, certain unalienable truths remain. For example, mankind has come to agreement that murder and stealing are wrong. Indeed, these common principles are pervasive throughout civilisations and history is knowledge worth learning.

注: Socrates 苏格拉底 Confucius 孔子 Herbert Spencer 斯宾塞

You are required to talk for the full 2 minutes.

2.2 Imagine you are a candidate in the IELTS test. The teacher is an examiner. Please answer the questions below with what you have learned to develop your IELTS answers. (3 minutes)

Describe a short course you took or would like to take.

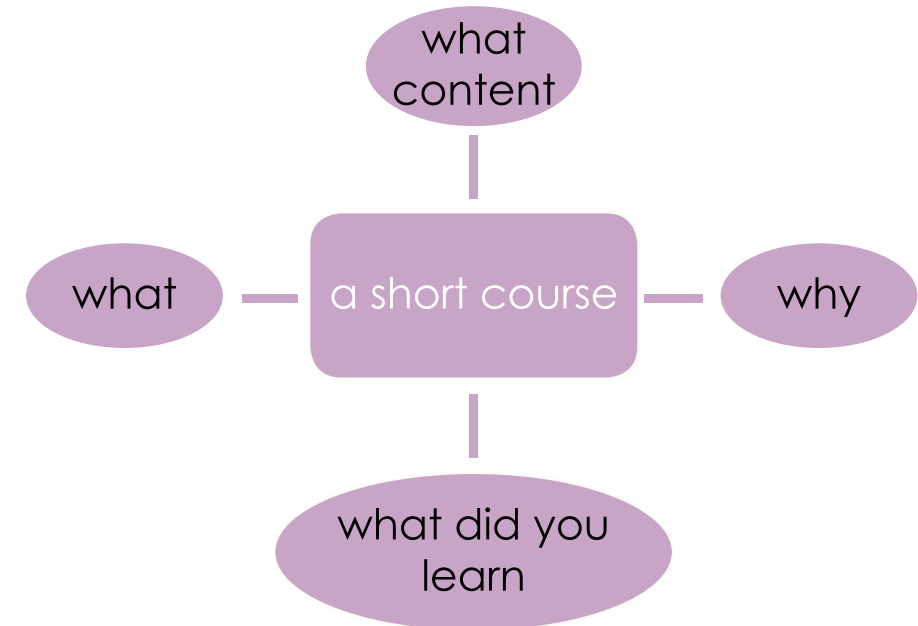

You should say:

why you took it

what it was

what the exact content of the course was

and explain what you learned from the course.

Homework: Please use the model for these two topics for further practice.

Describe an interesting course.

Describe a course that is meaningful to you.

Review (2 minutes)

Key Words & Expressions

hear sth. through the grapevine

scratch the surface

aspire

be fascinated with

suffice it to say

pervasive

Key Sentences

People's spending and buying habits will be affected far more by advertising than by their hearing about products through the grapevine.

Normally, when you learn about history in school, they only teach you the essential information, which barely even scratches the surface in most cases.

These advertisements include commercials for clothes, cosmetics, weight reduction and fitness, so they often give teenagers an unrealistic self-image to aspire to and can lead to low self-esteem.

In fact, I have always been fascinated with philosophy, so when an opportunity to take a course on it for half the normal price, I jumped on it.

Suffice it to say that the topics were highly enlightening.

Indeed, these common principles are pervasive throughout civilisations and history is knowledge worth learning.

You will learn more about this topic in Lesson 2.