Topic 2—Lesson 2(下篇)

A rule in school

IELTS Speaking Part 2 (10 minutes)

You will be given one minute to prepare to talk about the topic on the task card. You will have to talk for 1-2 minutes, and then the teacher will give you feedback for 2-3mins. (5 minutes)

Describe a rule in school you agree or disagree with.

You should say:

what the rule is why it is needed

how the rule is enforced

and explain why you agree or disagree with this rule.

Tips: During the first stage of Part 2, you don't need to talk. Keep the questions in mind and think them over.

2.3 Here is another model for the IELTS Speaking Part 2. We will focus on the words and expressions highlighted and in red below. (5 minutes)

Model 2

What the rule is: The school is supposed to be the playground where we simulate and prepare for the rest of our lives. It's a hot bed of socialisation and even the most decrepit schools have rules that need to be followed. The rule that I find most useful is the anti-bullying rule.

Why it's needed: It is pretty self-explanatory why this rule is needed, as bullying more than anything else can affect young school children negatively. It is probably not too far-off to assume that this is the main cause of many children having low self-esteem and often leads to depression in students.

How it's enforced: The rule is enforced diligently and swiftly. The way it works is that a student having an issue with a bully can report him or her to the principal's office. The bully is then reprimanded and normally issued a certain amount of time to visit the school counselor. Through a series of interviews and conversations with the parents the root cause of the bully's depraved behaviour is discovered and corrected.

Why you agree or disagree with it: Everyone in their right mind would agree with an anti-bullying policy. The school should be a place of learning but not a place students fear going to because of a bully. They should be afraid of going to school because they have forgotten their homework or are ill-prepared for an exam!

IV. IELTS Speaking Part 3 (10 mins)

1. Please answer the following question from Part 3. According to your answer, the teacher will give you feedback on how to improve your organisational skills. (5 minutes)

How to organise your answer in Part 3:

T: Topic Sentence + S: Supporting Details (Explanation/Examples)

Do you think the laws of a country reflect the society of that country?

T: To a certain extent, I do think the laws can reflect a society's values and beliefs.

S1: First, since the society is the ultimate decider on its needs and desires, the laws created by a country are an extension of their own identities, social values, and norms. Thus, they will faithfully mirror the values commonly held by its social members.

S2: Furthermore, because laws can be amended and changed according to the whims of a country's politicians, it proves that as an inquiry of study, a country's laws can provide insight into any nation's current social environment.

2. You will learn some key words and expressions from these questions. Pay attention to the structure of the underlined sentences, and the words in red. (5 minutes)

Key Words and Models

Do you think the law should be applied equally to all people no matter what social class they belong to?

 In my opinion, the law should indeed be applied equally to every individual regardless of the social class. Without doubt, the law in any civilised society is supposed to follow the an-eye-for-an-eye principle, since all men are created equal. However, this is not the case in the modern society as wealth and influence more often than not still warrant less severe punishments for breaking laws. This may lead to the instability of society. Thus, the governments are obliged to make laws fairly enforced among all people and together create a better world.

Would you say that people in your country usually obey the law?

 It is fair to declare that most Chinese people are obedient followers of the law, although minor crimes do occur from time to time. For the most part the crime rate in China is very low. According to recent statistics released by the authorities, murder rates in China are roughly one-fifth, as low as in the United States. Thus, it seems that many Chinese people are more than willing to obey the law, especially the criminal law. The main issue that I can observe as it relates to breaking the law is concerning theft and counterfeit money, which are rampant problems in China.

Key Sentences

It is pretty self-explanatory why this rule is needed, as bullying more than anything else can affect young school children negatively.

The bully is then reprimanded and normally issued a certain amount of time to visit the school counselor.

They have forgotten their homework or are ill-prepared for an exam!

However, the law and the society are in a chicken-and-egg dilemma, so it is difficult to know the exact extent of how the former may reflect the latter in a given country.

Without doubt, the law in any civilised society is supposed to follow the an-eye-for-an-eye principle.

The main issue that I can observe as it relates to breaking the law is concerning theft and counterfeit money, which are rampant problems in China.
