Experience of learning English

I. Pronunciation Practice (2 minutes)

Contractions

Contractions are commonly used in English. Contractions are the reductions in word sounds by the dropping of a letter or letters in the word.

Read the following sentences and pay attention to the pronunciation of the contractions of modal verbs.

1. should have:

You should've done your homework. (/ʃəʊdv/)

2. could have:

I could've had a cellphone.

3. must have:

He must've answered incorrectly.

4. might have:

She might've eaten it already.

II. IELTS Speaking Part 1 (8 minutes)

Extend your answer to 3-4 sentences. It's easier to get 7.5.

1. Imagine you are a candidate in the IELTS test. The teacher is an examiner. Please answer the questions below with what you have learned to develop your IELTS answers. (4 minutes)

Which type of movie do you prefer? Why?

Who likes watching movies in your country? And why?

Where do you prefer to watch movies, at home or in cinemas?

The examiner will score your answer from the following aspects:

1. How good you are at keeping talking at the right speed and connecting your ideas together;
2. How much vocabulary you have and how well you use it;
3. How many structures you have and how well you use them;
4. How well you pronounce the language.

2. Read and learn the following key words and models for the IELTS Part 1. You are suggested to apply these words in the following steps. (4 minutes)

Key Words and Models

play on

 Example: My favourite genre of film is by far horror. Movies of this particular type often play on our primal fears and emotions. I enjoy watching this kind of moves because being terrified while safe and sound in my own home is such an exhilarating experience. Also, I find that this reason is a bit of an interesting paradox that explains a lot about human nature.

blockbuster

 Example: Everyone likes watching movies in China. For example, young people in China prefer to see most movies, especially movies that are considered blockbusters, at the cinema. Conversely, the elderly normally prefer to view movies in the comfort of their own homes.

drown out

 Example: Personally, I get more enjoyment out of watching movies at the cinema than at home. When at the cinema it is much easier to suspend your disbelief in a movie's authenticity, meaning it's easier to get absorbed into the story. This is simply because at the cinema you are placed in an environment that is meant to drown out external stimuli, thus enhancing what is on the screen.

III. IELTS Speaking Part 2 (12 minutes)

1. Brainstorm. Plan your answers based on the given questions. (1 minute)

Describe your experience of learning English.

- When did you begin to learn English?
- What successes did you have and what challenges did you meet?
- What equipment or books did you use?
- Is it difficult for you to learn English?

Tips: During the first stage of Part 2, you don't need to talk. Keep the questions in mind and think them over.

2.1 Here is a model for the IELTS Speaking Part 2. We will focus on the words and expressions highlighted and in red below. (8 minutes)

Model 1

When you began to learn English: My studies on the English language began at a relatively young age. My introduction to a second language was in Elementary school when I was about ten years old.

What success you had and what challenges: The process of learning English is often associated with tedious attempts to remember the extremely large vocabulary. Although for many of my classmates this was a slow and irritating process, I found the opposite to be true for me. I could easily memorise ten new words a day and recall them whenever the need arose. Alternatively, my challenges were in the matter of grammar, as I found the amount of rules and structure to be overwhelming and difficult to comprehend.

What books you used: I remember quite vividly using a book called Word, Words, and More Words for vocabulary learning. I also happen to recall our grammar book being titled Grammar Now: Journey to Rules. Other than those specific books, I cannot remember the numerous other books that have been a part of my English studies over the years.

Explain if learning English was difficult: Like in the first steps on a long and arduous journey, the beginning is always the most difficult part. Once I got my footing in my studies I rapidly advanced and from then on English learning became a largely enjoyable experience for me.

You are required to talk for the full 2 minutes.

2.2 Imagine you are a candidate in the IELTS test. The teacher is an examiner. Please answer the questions below with what you have learned to develop your IELTS answers. (3 minutes)

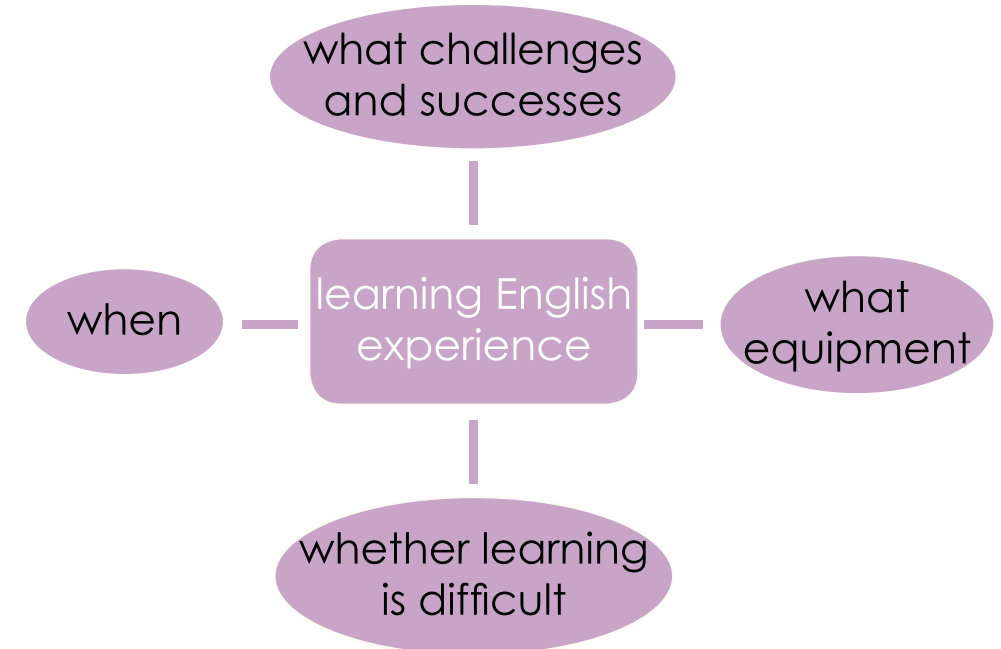

Describe your experience of learning English.

You should say:

when you began to learn English

what successes you had and what challenges you met what equipment or books you used and explain whether learning English is difficult for you.

Homework: Please use the model for these two topics for further practice.

Describe your experience of learning a language.
Describe your approaches to learning English.
