Topic 4—Lesson 2(下篇)

An exam you have taken

IELTS Speaking Part 2 (10 minutes)

You will be given one minute to prepare to talk about the topic on the task card. You will have to talk for 1-2 minutes, and then the teacher will give you feedback for 2-3mins. (5 minutes)

Describe an impressive exam you have taken.

You should say:

what exam you took

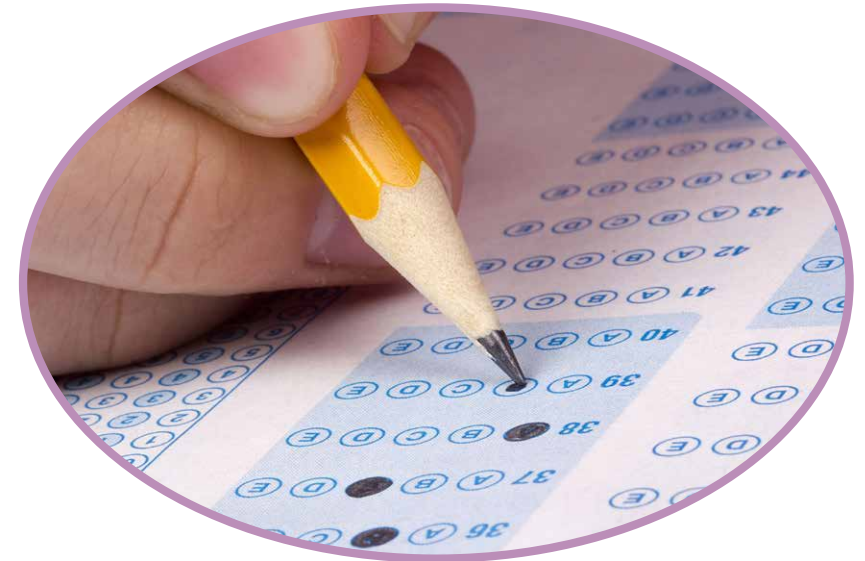

when and where the exam took place

how you did on the exam

and explain your feelings towards the exam.

Tips: During the first stage of Part 2, you don't need to talk. Keep the questions in mind and think them over.

2.3 Here is another model for the IELTS Speaking Part 2. We will focus on the words and expressions highlighted and in red below. (5 minutes)

Model 2

What exam you took: I had a miserable experience once with an exam. This exam was on geometry that I have always been terrible at.

When and where the exam took place: Not only was the test difficult because of the subject material, but the place I took the exam also added to its difficulty. The exam took place in a very cramped room that was full of my classmates. On top of that, the test was in late July and our air conditioner in the room was not operating at full capacity.

How you did on the exam: I wish I had done well on the test, but in actuality I didn't. Although I got a very low score on the test, I did pass it. I did poorly on the section related to calculating the measurements of an object based solely on its shadow.

How you felt about the exam: I normally do pretty well on tests, so this one stood out. It represented a painful reminder that if you do not study for an exam you are setting yourself up for failure. I would like to blame my teacher on the outcome of this geometry exam, but eventually I realised that I had no one to blame but myself. Reaching that conclusion at such an early stage in my life has urged me to study harder to become a much better test taker.

IV. IELTS Speaking Part 3 (10 mins)

1. Please answer the following question from Part 3. According to your answer, the teacher will give you feedback on how to improve your organisational skills. (5 minutes)

How to organise your answer in Part 3:

I: Introduction Sentence + P: Points (Point1, Point2...)

Do you think exams are the best way to assess a student's ability?

I: I have particular notions about the role exams play in assessing a student's ability.

P1: On one hand, monthly exams and a final exam are very valuable sources for gathering some data on a student's progress. That is to say, they help assess how much knowledge the student has retained in a short period.

P2: On the other hand, exams do not really test for long-term accumulation of knowledge learned in class or test for critical-thinking skills. In my opinion, alternatives to exams are needed, since they may not be the best method for assessing a student's overall ability.

2. You will learn some key words and expressions from these questions. Pay attention to the structure of the underlined sentences, and the words in red. (5 minutes)

Key Words and Models

Can you think of another way to assess a student's ability other than exams?

Exams are the traditional method used to assess a student's comprehension of specific subjects; however, there are many alternatives to exams. Instead of instructing students to prepare for exams, teachers can assign papers, with varying levels of difficulty. Teachers can also assess a student's ability by assigning weekly or monthly presentations. Another alternative method to exams is having students create memorandums or briefings at the end of a semester.

What are students' attitudes towards exam results?

I think many students have to force themselves into looking at their results, let alone deeply analysing their exam results. This is due to exams' power to decide whether or not a student passes their courses. Using this line of reasoning I think many students have a negative attitude towards exams, because when something has such an influence on one's life you have no choice but to take it seriously.
