Topic 2—Lesson 1(上篇)

Questionnaire or survey

I. Pronunciation Practice (2 minutes)

Rhythm

Words that have the most stress in English are called content words. Content words are usually the nouns, verbs, adjectives, adverbs, and pronouns (demonstrative, possessive, reflexive, and interrogative). These words are important to express the main meaning of the sentence.

Read the following sentences and pay attention to the parts in bold that need to be stressed.

1. When are you coming to dinner?
2. I have never liked the colour red.
3. Motorcycles can be dangerous to drive or ride on.
4. Last month Carol got a new job in San Francisco.

II. IELTS Speaking Part 1 (8 minutes)

Extend your answer to 3-4 sentences. It's easier to get 7.5.

1. Imagine you are a candidate in the IELTS test. The teacher is an examiner. Please answer the questions below with what you have learned to develop your IELTS answers. (4 minutes)

How well do you know the people who live next door to you?

What kinds of problems do people sometimes have with their neighbours?

How do you think the neighbours can help each other?

The examiner will score your answer from the following aspects:

1. How good you are at keeping talking at the right speed and connecting your ideas together;
2. How much vocabulary you have and how well you use it;
3. How many structures you have and how well you use them;
4. How well you pronounce the language.

2. Read and learn the following key words and models for the IELTS Part 1. You are suggested to apply these words in the following steps. (4 minutes)

Key Words and Models

familiarity

Example: I am only familiar with the people living directly across from me for a few basic reasons. The man living next door is a bit of an alcoholic and tends to drink and smoke in the hallway. I only know him because on the weekend I usually walk past him while he is playing cards in the open. Usually, I will stop for a few brief minutes to discuss current events or the weather, but that is as far as our familiarity goes.

noise control

Example: I think the most common problems that people have with their neighbours are related to noise control. Many people enjoy listening to music and sometimes it is very hard to gauge just how loud it is until someone tells us. Since neighbours have different sleep schedules, this issue with loud music or any noise can cause many problems between people living in close quarters to one another.

spring to mind

Example: Being a part of a close-knit community has several benefits. The first benefit that springs to mind is that if you need your neighbour to help babysit your children or your pets they will usually oblige, in hopes that you will reciprocate in the future of course, since there is mutual trust. Another benefit would be security. You can usually count on your neighbours to keep a watch out for people that might be up to no good.

III. IELTS Speaking Part 2 (12 minutes)

1. Brainstorm. Plan your answers based on the given questions. (1 minute)

Describe a time when you were asked to give your opinion in a questionnaire or survey;

- What was the questionnaire or survey about?
- Why were you asked to give your opinions?
- What opinions did you give?
- How did you feel about giving your opinions in this questionnaire or survey?

Tips: During the first stage of Part 2, you don't need to talk. Keep the questions in mind and think them over.

2.1 Here is a model for the IELTS Speaking Part 2. We will focus on the words and expressions highlighted and in red below. (8 minutes)

Model 1

What the questionnaire or survey was about: A few weeks ago I was asked to answer a questionnaire while taking a stroll on campus. The questions were about fears and what I thought people were most afraid of.

Why you were asked to give your opinions: I was asked to give my opinions mainly because I happened to be in the right place and at the right time. I also suspect that I was asked to offer my viewpoints because I was a student at the time and the person giving the questionnaire was also a student, which meant I was more approachable than others.

What opinions you gave: My opinion was that most people are afraid of something unknown to them, since a sense of uncertainty is often a major cause of such psychological responses as fear. Meanwhile, as far as I am concerned, there are also a number of individuals who are extremely afraid of sickness or even death.

How you felt about giving your opinion: To be honest, I didn't feel anything special about being asked to give my answers to a short questionnaire. To me I was simply helping out a fellow student and I believe perhaps it made me feel like a responsible peer, but that was it.

You are required to talk for the full 2 minutes.

2.2 Imagine you are a candidate in the IELTS test. The teacher is an examiner. Please answer the questions below with what you have learned to develop your IELTS answers. (3 minutes)

Describe a time when you were asked to give your opinion in a questionnaire or survey.

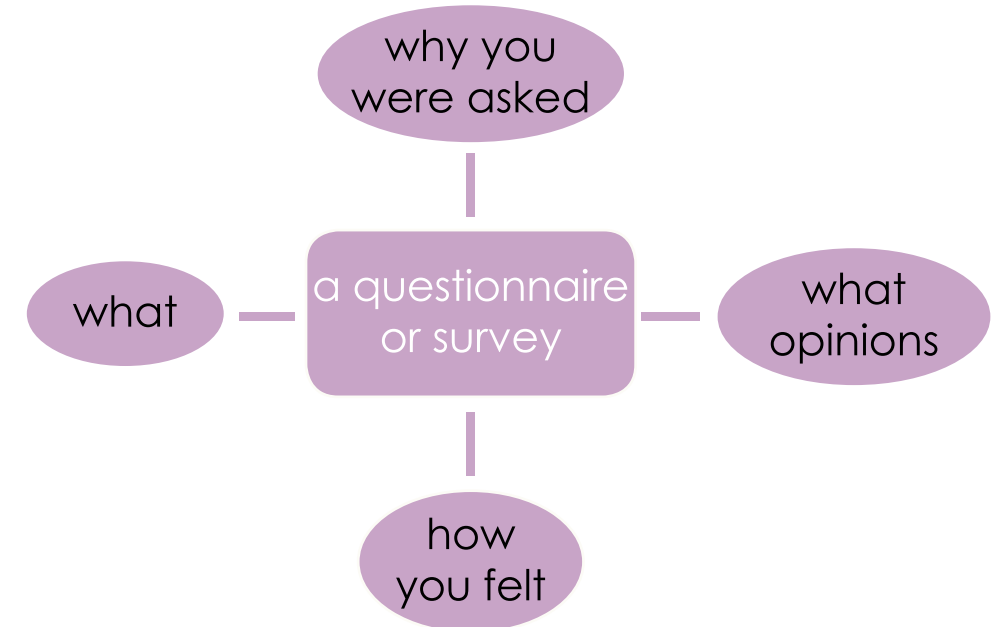

You should say:

what the questionnaire or survey was about

why you were asked to give your opinions

what opinions you gave and explain how you felt about giving your opinions in this questionnaire or survey.

Homework: Please use the model for these two topics for further practice.

Describe a questionnaire you answered.

Describe your opinions to a survey.
