what is special about it and explain how people feel about it.

2.3 Here is another model for the IELTS Speaking Part 2. We will focus on the words and expressions highlighted and in red below. (5 minutes)

Model 2

What the animal is: As humans, we tend to think we are superior to animals. This of course couldn't be further from the truth as we just do not fully understand the high level of sophistication in their communication and adaptations that other species have developed. Our lack of understanding and our bias have led to wanton destruction of our natural environment and devastation of animal habitats. However, as far as research goes, we have numerous attempts to understand the animal kingdom through observation. My favourite zoological studies are those on wolves.

Where it can be found & what is special about it: There are many species of wolves, but my favourite one is the Gray Wolf. This particular wolf is indigenous to parts of North America and Eurasia. What makes this animal special to me is the depth of emotions that they display as they are as social as humans and have a wealth of communication methods they employ. They are also capable of displaying complex emotions and are able to form complex relationships. This type of wolf is also one of the biggest, with adult males weighing around 43-45 kg., making them apex predators and masters of their territory. Also, the domesticated dog as we know it today descended from wolves, which makes them all the more special and worthy of admiration and protection from human society.

IV. IELTS Speaking Part 3 (10 mins)

1. Please answer the following question from Part 3. According to your answer, the teacher will give you feedback on how to improve your organisational skills. (5 minutes)

How to organise your answer in Part 3:

T: Topic Sentence + S: Supporting Details (Explanation/Examples)

Do you think the ecosystem in China is quite balanced?

T: In my opinion, the ecological system in China has become more unbalanced than before, but fortunately the situation has aroused enough attention.

S1: From what I have observed, due to a rapid increase in economic development over the last couple of decades, mass destruction has been caused to the natural environment. For instance, China's coastline has suffered the most degradation over the years and certainly has the most out-of-balance ecosystem.

S2: However, in recent years the government has taken dramatic steps to improve our natural environment. The coastline has received special attention from the local governments and I am confident that our ecosystem will become much better in the near future.

2. You will learn some key words and expressions from these questions. Pay attention to the structure of the underlined sentences, and the words in red. (5 minutes)

Key Words and Models

What do you think caused the serious wildlife extinction?

There are many natural factors that impact the extinction of the world's wildlife, but none are as prevalent as the human impact. By spreading to rural areas, people change the landscape and invade the natural habitat of the wildlife that lives there. This causes competition between the animals that have adapted to their surroundings and people that are new arrivals. In the fight for survival humans have tended to win out, causing the extinction of numerous wildlife species.

What should the government and individuals do to protect wild animals?

I think there is much to be done by the government and individuals to protect wild animals. Although relevant laws have been made by the government to illegalise the killing of endangered animals, harsher penalties should be given to criminals that violate those laws. Besides, any business that capitalises on the illicit trade of the said animals should be shut down by the government. As for individuals, they should demand that the government do more to protect wild animals and also refuse to buy items such as medicine made with these animals.
