I. Pronunciation Practice (2 minutes)

Sentence Stress

Example:

- Content words, which carry meaning, are stressed.
- Function words, like prepositions, pronouns, and auxiliary verbs, are unstressed.

Read the following sentences. Underline the stressed words.

1. It's a piece of equipment.
2. The latest trend is for green technology.
3. Do you know the price of this?
4. We can' t speak English fluently. Can you?

II. IELTS Speaking Part 1 (8 minutes)

Extend your answer to 3-4 sentences. It's easier to get 7.5.

1. Imagine you are a candidate in the IELTS test. The teacher is an examiner. Please answer the questions below with what you have learned to develop your IELTS answers. (4 minutes)

How often do you watch television? Why/Why not?

Do you enjoy the advertisements on TV? Why/Why not?

Do you think most programmes on TV are good? Why/Why not?

The examiner will score your answer from the following aspects:

1. How good you are at keeping talking at the right speed and connecting your ideas together;
2. How much vocabulary you have and how well you use it;
3. How many structures you have and how well you use them;
4. How well you pronounce the language.

2. Read and learn the following key words and models for the IELTS Part 1. You are suggested to apply these words in the following steps. (4 minutes)

Key Words and Models

couch potato

 Example: I spend at least one hour each day watching television on weekdays and on weekends television occupies about four hours of my time on average. Television is an excellent medium for escapism and presents me with a way to relax without needing to pay much attention, which is appealing for a couch potato like me.

tune out

 Example: When watching television, I tend to tune out advertisements when they air, since I do not particularly enjoy advertisements. I disregard advertisements for the simple reason that they have either hidden or overt intentions to alter my subconscious in order to influence me into spending money on something. I find this type of formatted deception unpleasing, so I always do my best to avoid watching or listening to advertisements on TV.

 Example: Ultimately, it is up to each individual to decide what specific shows fit their tastes. However, in general I would assume that if a TV programme has been aired for consecutive years, it means that show is popular and continues to amuse the masses. Therefore, saying most programmes on TV are good would be valid.

III. IELTS Speaking Part 2 (12 minutes)

1. Brainstorm. Plan your answers based on the given questions. (1 minute)

Describe a friend of your family you remember from your childhood.

- Who was the person?
- How did your family know this person?
- How often did this person visit your family?
- Why do you remember this person?

Tips: During the first stage of Part 2, you don't need to talk. Keep the questions in mind and think them over.

2.1 Here is a model for the IELTS Speaking Part 2. We will focus on the words and expressions highlighted and in red below. (8 minutes)

Model 1

Who & how: For the sake of retelling of an event from my life, I will define a family friend as someone that has managed to befriend my entire family. According to my definition, my next-door neighbour Mr. Rushing, whom my family has lived close to our entire lives, fits the bill.

How often: Mr. Rushing was an all-around go-getter and would most often visit us in the late afternoons for the purpose of telling one of his magnificent tales from his past. He would always shoot the breeze with my father while drinking what I assume was some kind of alcoholic beverage. I remember quite vividly the story that he would tell was about how he and Fan Bingbing ended up sharing a drink. Looking back, I now realize he and my father were just pulling my leg!

Why: Needless to say, he was quite a memorable family friend because he often entertained the whole family with his amusing stories. Also, the fact that he was around when we needed a favour made him an excellent and reliable person to count on regardless of the circumstances. Once he even managed to put out a small fire that my father had accidentally started in our backyard!

You are required to talk for the full 2 minutes.

2.2 Imagine you are a candidate in the IELTS test. The teacher is an examiner. Please answer the questions below with what you have learned to develop your IELTS answers. (3 minutes)

Describe a friend of your family you remember from your childhood.

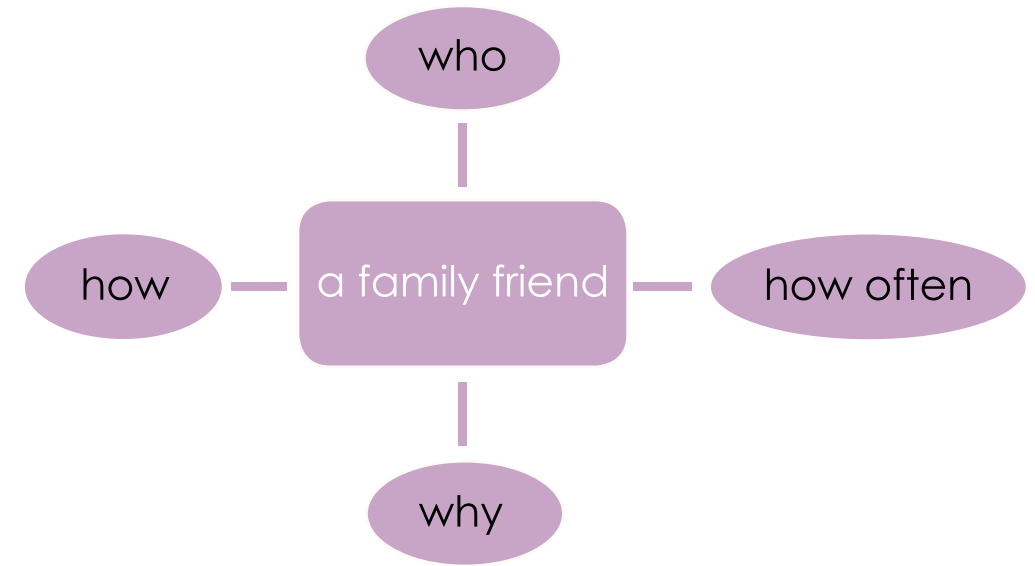

You should say:

who the person was

how your family knew this person

how often this person visited your family and explain why you remember this person.

Homework: Please use the model for these two topics for further practice.

Describe your best friend.

Describe a friend you haven't been in contact with for a long time.
