pizza

zebra

Extend your answer to 3-4 sentences. It's easier to get 7.5.

1. Imagine you are a candidate in the IELTS test. The teacher is an examiner. Please answer the questions below with what you have learned to develop your IELTS answers. (4 minutes)

Do many foreigners speak your native language?

How important is your native language in the world today?

Do you think your native language is easier than English?

The examiner will score your answer from the following aspects:

1. How good you are at keeping talking at the right speed and connecting your ideas together;
2. How much vocabulary you have and how well you use it;
3. How many structures you have and how well you use them;
4. How well you pronounce the language.

2. Read and learn the following key words and models for the IELTS Part 1. You are suggested to apply these words in the following steps. (4 minutes)

Key Words and Models

committed

Example: China has become a very important and prosperous country in the last couple of decades. Thus, more and more foreigners have come to China to seek education or employment opportunities. These committed individuals usually choose to learn Chinese as the ability to speak Chinese improves their prospects of getting accepted into prestigious universities or companies in China.

internationally-oriented

Example: If you ask me, the Chinese language is very popular nowadays and is spoken by over one billion people worldwide. Another major reason for the importance of Chinese is that China has the second largest economy in the world today. This makes knowing the language extremely vital to people working in internationally-oriented professions having to do with trade.

verb conjugation

Example: According to my belief, Chinese is much easier to learn than English. Unlike French, German, or English, Chinese has no verb conjugation, which means that there is no need to memorise verb tenses. Also, Chinese does not have noun declension and therefore there are no gender or number distinctions. For example, in English there is a difference between cat and cats, but in Chinese there is only one character, "mao".

III. IELTS Speaking Part 2 (12 minutes)

1. Brainstorm. Plan your answers based on the given questions. (1 minute)

Describe a foreign culture you are interested in.

- What is this culture?
- How did you know about this culture?
- What do you know about this culture?
- Why are you interested in it?

Tips: During the first stage of Part 2, you don't need to talk. Keep the questions in mind and think them over.

2.1 Here is a model for the IELTS Speaking Part 2. We will focus on the words and expressions highlighted and in red below. (8 minutes)

Model 1

What this culture is: I am interested in learning more about Native American culture, specifically the traditional belief system of the Cherokee tribe. The Cherokee are indigenous to the southeastern United States, and the language they speak is called Cherokee as well.

How you knew about this culture: I first learned about this culture after watching a movie called Dances With Wolves. This movie is about a white man who gains a different perspective on life after he befriends a lone wolf and an Indian tribe. After watching this movie, I became interested in different Native American tribes.

What you know about this culture: From what I learned through the American history, the Cherokee lived rather peacefully until the white settlers came to colonise the Americas. The Cherokee were relocated multiple times after the settlers drove them from their land. Though they had many periods of war, I know that the Cherokee believe in the importance of being in harmony with nature and other living beings.

Why you are interested in it: I admire the Cherokee culture because I think that as a tribe they are very resourceful and creative. I have seen pictures of some of the crafts that the Cherokee Indians have made and they are absolutely beautiful. The pottery and baskets they make are both aesthetic and functional, and the clothing they design are extremely unique. The Cherokee use natural materials to make their products and they generally don't let anything go to waste.

注：Cherokee 切罗基族

You are required to talk for the full 2 minutes.

2.2 Imagine you are a candidate in the IELTS test. The teacher is an examiner. Please answer the questions below with what you have learned to develop your IELTS answers. (3 minutes)
