Topic 6—Lesson 1(上篇)

A foreign language you would like to learn (not English)

I. Pronunciation Practice (2 minutes)

Back-chaining

Back-chaining is used to practice the stress patterns of long words.
Example: Chain the word 'economics' backwards.

mics □ no mics □ co no mics □ e co no mics

Chain the following words backwards and pay attention to their stress patterns.

philosophy psychology archaeology anthropology cosmetology climatology

II. IELTS Speaking Part 1 (8 minutes)

Extend your answer to 3-4 sentences. It's easier to get 7.5.

1. Imagine you are a candidate in the IELTS test. The teacher is an examiner. Please answer the questions below with what you have learned to develop your IELTS answers. (4 minutes)

What kind of cultural events do people like to go to in your city/region?

Is it expensive to go to such events? And Do you think that such events are important in people's lives?

Have you ever participated in a cultural event?

The examiner will score your answer from the following aspects:

1. How good you are at keeping talking at the right speed and connecting your ideas together;
2. How much vocabulary you have and how well you use it;
3. How many structures you have and how well you use them;
4. How well you pronounce the language.

2. Read and learn the following key words and models for the IELTS Part 1. You are suggested to apply these words in the following steps. (4 minutes)

Example: Many people prefer to go to events that are orchestrated by the local cultural committee. This organisation stages many plays and performances related to our ancient heritage. Most people will go to these shows in hopes of being entertained while also showing their appreciation to the local government. I suppose people also like to go to the opera, as it is quite popular in Beijing.

so much so that

Example: These events sponsored by the government tend to be moderately priced, so much so that even people with low incomes can participate in these types of events. I think cultural events are important to society for several reasons. The first reason is that, these types of events serve to bring people rooted in similar backgrounds and customs together. The second reason is that these events provide an alternative way to learn about historical events.

immerse sb. into

Example: To be frank, I prefer to be a casual observer, rather than an active participant in cultural events. I enjoy watching these events, but I am far too coy to be involved in any way. However, I do see a few benefits in being a participant. One such benefit is that being a participant might immerse you further into your heritage and thus make you feel more connected to the past. Another benefit might be popularity, because if you are seen participating in a show or event you might become more well-known among your peers.

III. IELTS Speaking Part 2 (12 minutes)

1. Brainstorm. Plan your answers based on the given questions. (1 minute)

Describe another language you would learn (not English).

- What is it?
- Where do you learn it?
- How do you learn it?
- Why would you learn it?

Tips: During the first stage of Part 2, you don't need to talk. Keep the questions in mind and think them over.

2.1 Here is a model for the IELTS Speaking Part 2. We will focus on the words and expressions highlighted and in red below. (8 minutes)

Model 1

What it is: A foreign language I would love to delve into is French, which is often regarded as one of the noblest languages around the globe.

Where you learn it: I am well aware that languages are best learnt in their natural environment; therefore, logically I ought to start my studies in France. However, this presents itself with numerous issues, such as the lack of finances. So I would most possibly learn French by taking classes in China, because this appears to be the most sensible option in terms of cost.

How you learn it: As for how I would learn French, numerous choices are available, including learning in a classroom, following a tutor or attending online courses, which is better suited to those who lead busy lives. Personally, I feel the best form of studying a foreign language like French is still through traditional classes, where communication can take place effectively. However, as I progress beyond the basics, the refinement of pronunciation and grammar may be further guaranteed by a tutor who usually offers the most pertinent instructions and suggestions.

Why you would learn it: Nowadays, French is such a widely spoken language that after the likes of English and Chinese, it's an obvious choice to go for. Furthermore, I've always wanted to live in Canada where French is used as an official language, though knowing English would also suffice.

You are required to talk for the full 2 minutes.

2.2 Imagine you are a candidate in the IELTS test. The teacher is an examiner. Please answer the questions below with what you have learned to develop your IELTS answers. (3 minutes)

Describe another language you would learn (not English).

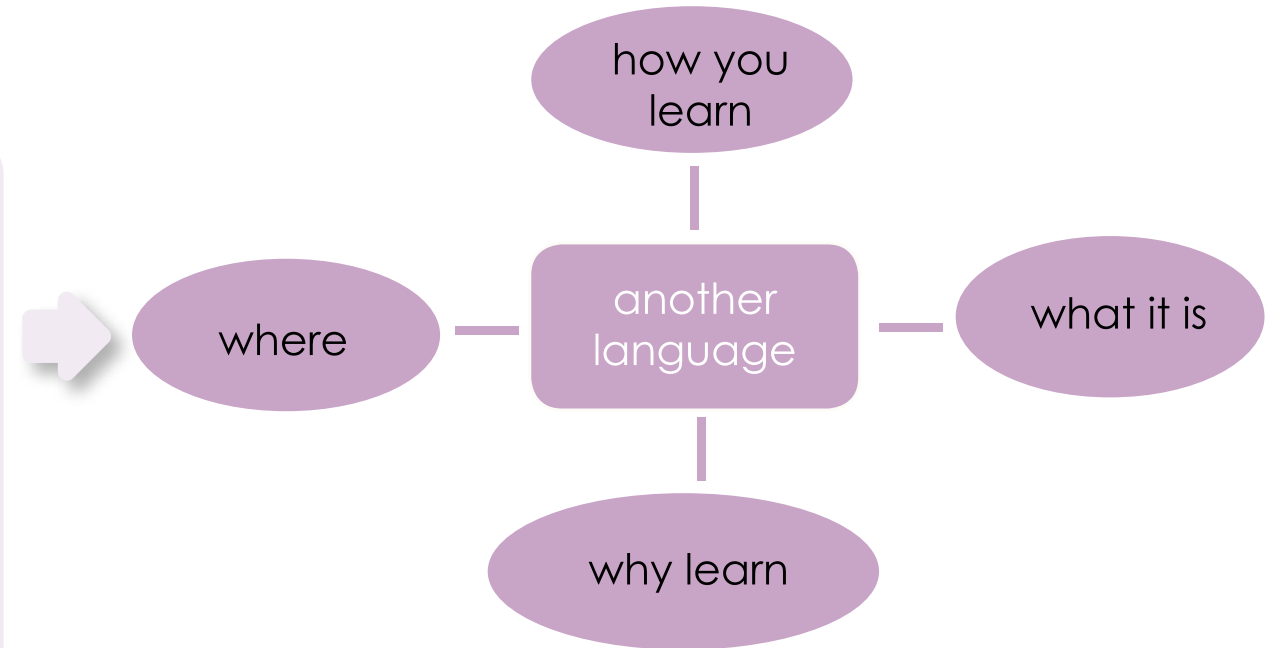

You should say:

what it is where you learn it

how you learn it and explain why you would learn it.

Homework: Please use the model for these two topics for further practice.

Describe a language you are most interested in.
Describe a method of language learning you have mastered.
