1. Read and learn the following key words and sentences for the IELTS Part 1. You are suggested to apply these words in the following steps. (5 mins)

Key words and key sentences

 Example: In general, I think most Chinese people prefer stability in their personal and work lives. On the other hand, I believe that sometimes circumstances create the need for someone to change jobs. For example, a person might have to leave his or her current job in order to gain the possibility of a promotion.

 Example: Changing jobs can be a stressful experience with many negative effects. Whenever you change your workplace, you have to adapt to a new working environment, which includes meeting new people, receiving training, and possibly moving to a new city. Another effect is that you may become discouraged and therefore feel insecure in your decision to leave your last job, especially in the first couple of months.

 Example: Personally, I do not mind changes in my life, such as meeting new friends or moving to a new city; however, I do not like changes in my work. I like to be in a steady working environment where my jobs are predictable. I like following a routine that allows me to always know what is coming up next on my schedule.

3.1 Here is a model for the IELTS Speaking Part 2. We will focus on the sentences highlighted below. (4 mins)

Model 1

What, when and where: One English lesson activity that has impressed me the most is called a spelling bee which is a word spelling competition involving multiple participants. I still remember the first time that we held this activity was in our final English class before the fifth grade ended.

How: The teacher first divided our class into two groups, and each member in a group took turns to spell the word in front of everyone. I was completely nervous when it was my turn to do so, since it was my first time to speak in front of a large crowd. The moment I stood in front, my mind suddenly went blank. When my teacher read the word aloud, I tried to spell that word, and finally after several minutes I did.

How you benefited: I benefited greatly from the spelling bee. I learned that speaking in front of everyone was not frightening and that learning could be fun through imaginative activities. Without a fear of speaking in front of a large crowd, I have been driven to participate in more English activities, which have motivated me greatly in learning.
