Example: Due to lack of proper management and supervision, there were a lot of misleading or unhealthy advertisements.

Example: Before the law was passed, some disabled people became beggars after being abandoned by their families.

prohibit

Example: This law strictly prohibits any ill-treatment or abandonment of the disabled. Besides that, it also requires that local governments create job opportunities for the disabled.

3.1 Here is a model for the IELTS Speaking Part 2. We will focus on the sentences highlighted below. (4 mins)

Model 1

What and when: I would like to talk about a new law that was just in practise 3 years ago. It is about the regulations on TV and radio advertisements.

Whether you know it very well: I learned about this law from a famous TV programme in my country, which is called Legal Report. According to this new law, advertisements are not allowed to contain unhealthy information, such as violence and unhealthy life attitudes. Also, advertisements about cigarettes and liquors are limited to a larger extent. In addition, the duration of advertisements are regulated strictly.

Why: For a time in the past, there were great varieties of advertisements on TVs and radios, but due to lack of proper management and supervision, there were a lot of misleading or unhealthy advertisements, which exert a negative influence on the general public. Since its enforcement over the past months, the public has received better information from TV and radio advertisements. Most people praise it is really a good law.
