In the real examination, the examiner will ask you to prepare for 1 minute.

3.2 Here is another model for the IELTS Speaking Part 2. We will focus on the sentences highlighted below. (4 mins)

Model 2

Where: I'm going to describe the Manchester Christmas Market, which is situated in Albert Square, next to the Town Hall. It appears in downtown Manchester for only a month, from the end of November until Christmas every year.

How big: The market was originally quite small, occupying just one of the central squares in Manchester, but it has grown quickly in recent years. The parade of over 300 stalls is mind-boggling, with mouthwatering delicacies from all over Europe, attracting thousands of visitors every year.

What: At the Christmas market, European and local producers offer everything from fine amber jewelery, handcrafted leather bags, and top quality bonsai trees, to Dutch cheeses, French breads, and Spanish chorizo. It's perfect for alternative gift ideas.

Why: The main reason I loved visiting the Christmas Market was that it gave me a similar feeling to the temple fair in my home country and made me miss my family. No matter how cold or wet the weather was in UK, I would have a short stroll in the market. In a sense, it felt like I was walking in the market of my home country.

注: bonsai trees 盆景树 Spanish chorizo 西班牙辣香肠

You are required to talk for the full 2 minutes.

IV. IELTS Speaking Part 3 (10 mins)

1. Read and learn the following key words and sentences for the IELTS Part 3. You are suggested to apply these words in the following steps. (5 mins)

Key words and key sentences permanent

Example: The most obvious advantage of going to a shop is that it's a permanent location while a market is not. This has many implications: if you've purchased a damaged product and seek to return it, it is usually possible at a conventional shop. At a market, it might be impossible to find the exact vendor who sold you faulty goods in order to get your refund.

existence

Example: In my mind, it definitely makes an impact on everything everyone buys. The primary function of advertising is to inform consumers of the existence of products they might be interested in buying and using techniques to persuade people into buying. Although advertisements bring convenience to people in choosing products, not everyone has a tendency to follow the rules. Some people may purchase goods based on price preference or necessities instead of advertising.

brick-and-mortar

Example: I believe that the Internet is one of the recent influential changes in our life. It has deeply affected people's shopping patterns like never before. Over half the population in China is used to the convenience of online shopping. Due to the accessibility of the internet, it is less time and energy consuming to shop online than at a brick-and-mortar business.

2. Imagine you are a candidate in the IELTS test. The teacher is an examiner. Please answer the questions below with what you have learned to develop your IELTS answers. (5 mins)

Please give two supporting ideas at least for each question.

What do you think are the advantages of buying things from shops rather than markets?

How does advertising influence what people choose to buy? Is this true for everyone?

Do you think that any recent changes in the way people live have affected general shopping habits? Why is this?
