In the real examination, the examiner will ask you to prepare for 1 minute.

3.2 Here is another model for the IELTS Speaking Part 2. We will focus on the sentences highlighted below. (4 mins)

Model 2

Where it was: One year ago, my friend invited me to visit Hong Kong, and he took me to a restaurant called Gau Gei. It was a small restaurant that used to be located in the main part of Hong Kong, but now it has moved to a new location.

Why you chose: My local friends strongly recommended this restaurant to me mainly because it uses high quality ingredients to make beef briskets and also because it has been operating in Hong Kong for over a hundred years.

What type of food: I ordered their signature dishes, beef brisket, and broth. The brisket was so tender that it just melted in your mouth. Each piece of beef had completely absorbed all the flavours of the broth, so it was very juicy.

Why you enjoyed: The reasons why I like this restaurant are very simple and direct. It served the best beef brisket and broth that I had ever had and its food quality was greatly superior to other restaurants. The food served at this restaurant allowed me to sense the genuine passion that this family put into cooking each meal.

注: broth 肉汤

beef brisket 牛腩

You are required to talk for the full 2 minutes.

IV. IELTS Speaking Part 3 (10 mins)

1. Read and learn the following key words and sentences for the IELTS Part 3. You are suggested to apply these words in the following steps. (5 mins)

Key words and key sentences

have a blast

 Example: Restaurants are the kind of places where people can gather their friends to eat and have fun without worrying about preparing food or cleaning dishes. More importantly, some restaurants can offer a unique atmosphere, which you can't experience at home. For instance, a couple can go to a French restaurant for a romantic date or a group of friends can go to a Chinese hotpot restaurant to have a blast.

dine in

 Example: Let's take white-collar workers for example. Fast food restaurants are always their first choice to have a meal mainly because it is more time-consuming to dine in at a traditional restaurant than a fast food one. Within a short period of time, people can get adequate energy and necessary nutrition from fast food. In a sense, fast food plays a crucial role in people's fast-paced lives.

restriction

 Example: In fact, I do not agree with that. Expensive restaurants tend to have efficient management and stable quality but less creativity in designing new menus. Conversely, cheap restaurants don't have many restrictions for a chef to follow; they have the freedom to create signature dishes by experimenting with various ingredients. Hence there is the saying, "Expensive does not necessarily equal better quality."

2. Imagine you are a candidate in the IELTS test. The teacher is an examiner. Please answer the questions below with what you have learned to develop your IELTS answers. (5 mins)

Please give two supporting ideas at least for each question.

Why do you think people go to restaurants when they want to celebrate something?

Which are more popular in your country: fast food restaurants or traditional restaurants?

Some people say that food in an expensive restaurant is always better than food in a cheap restaurant. Would you agree?

Key sentences

Nowadays I don't read many newspapers or magazines often, except for when I want to be informed about political and financial issues, like information on the elections in the China Daily or about the stock market in The Economist.

I still maintain my reading skills and it has become a practical part of my daily English study routine.

If you are just a beginner to a language, it can be very difficult and frustrating to learn by reading. However, if you are an advanced language learner, it is a good way to acquire commonly used expressions, phrases, and idioms by reading newspapers or magazines.
