What: I think the wheel is one of the most influential and incredible inventions ever created by mankind.

When: This is one of the oldest inventions in the world, as evidence indicates that the wheel was invented in 3500 B.C. in Mesopotamia. However, the inventor is still unknown.

How it is used: Initially, it is thought that they were used as potters' wheels, and after about 300 years they began to be used for chariots in transportation. Today, they are used in countless ways and are found in everything from clocks to automobiles.

How: The invention of the wheel has influenced society in numerous ways, especially in facilitating transportation. Before this invention, humans were very restricted in the way they could transport items to distant places. However, the creation of the wheel enabled people to travel further with more belongings and goods. Without the invention of the wheel, there would be no vehicles in the world today. There would be much less communication and traveling to distant places by land would be practically impossible.
