Model 1

When and what: Last year, I decided to further my study in the UK. Luckily, at the end of March, I received two offers. One is from Edinburgh University and the other is from Newcastle University. I was very happy at that time.

How you felt: However, when I began to think about which university I should choose, I felt quite unsure. Edinburgh University is more famous than Newcastle University, but its teaching in Public Health, the major I chose, is not as excellent as that of Newcastle University. I asked my father for advice. He told me that I should focus on the useful skills rather than the rank of the universities.

Whether: Finally, I chose to study at Newcastle University. Even though I don't know whether I have made a good choice, I never feel regretful. I am confident that I am on the right path to becoming an excellent scholar in the Public Health field.
