Unit 1 People

Topic 5—Lesson 2(下篇)

The oldest person you know

IELTS Speaking Part 2 (10 minutes)

You will be given one minute to prepare to talk about the topic on the task card. You will have to talk for 1-2 minutes, and then the teacher will give you feedback for 2-3mins. (5 minutes)

Describe the oldest person you know:

You should say:

who this person is what is interesting about his/her life and explain what kind of life this person has now.

Tips: During the first stage of Part 2, you don't need to talk. Keep the questions in mind and think them over.

2.3 Here is another model for the IELTS Speaking Part 2. We will focus on the words and expressions highlighted and in red below. (5 minutes)

Model 2

Who this person is: The clash between religion and science has always been something that fascinated me. Therefore, I'd like to talk about Richard Dawkins, known for his relentless and brutal attacks on the church and his bestselling books. Dawkins is one of the oldest people I know aside from my grandparents obviously.

What his or her life is interesting about: He was educated at Oxford, and in due time became a professor. However, that is not why he is interesting. He made the news after openly attacking the Vatican and several important church members for their ignorance and stupidity. In the western world, these sorts of attacks are almost unheard of due to the fact that religion is one of the fundamental pillars that support the western culture.

What kind of life this person has now: He's characterised by his sharp wit and casual almost lazy manner in which he insults and mocks believers of every religion, which is usually accompanied by rifts of laughter from the crowds. He's widely admired for both his ability to be humorous whilst getting his points through and his courage in leading a religious revolution that may soon sweep through the western society. Despite his old age, he remains rather energetic, frequently attending interviews and debates. I try to follow these as best as I can.

IV. IELTS Speaking Part 3 (10 mins)

1. Please answer the following question from Part 3. According to your answer, the teacher will give you feedback on how to improve your organisational skills. (5 minutes)

How to organise your answer in Part 3:

I: Introduction Sentence + P: Points (Point1, Point2...)

What do people in China do in their retirement years?

I: The average age for retirement for the middle class in China is currently 54. This relatively young age by today's standards means that retirees in China live an active lifestyle.

P1: This lifestyle includes participating in community events such as operas, dances, and even martial arts. As a local hobby, in my area many retired citizens can be seen gathering and playing Mahjong or cards.

P2: Additionally, many retired people in China spend their time taking care of their extended families, as many of them have grandkids. Elderly Chinese citizens can oftentimes be observed taking their grandchildren to school on weekdays and to parks on the weekend.

2. You will learn some key words and expressions from these questions. Pay attention to the structure of the underlined sentences, and the words in red. (5 minutes)

Key Words and Models

Is it the responsibility of families to support old people?

Living in a country with a rapidly aging population, I assume that the main brunt of care for the elderly should be undertaken by their immediate families. In a scenario where there are no family members to directly take care of an elderly individual, I believe it is the state's duty to care for them. The best-case scenario, however, is a combination of three points of care, self-care, family care, and government sponsored care.

What are some of the main problems that the elderly in China face today?

Due to China's massive aging population, there are numerous apparent issues looming on the horizon. One such problem is that with so many citizens exiting the labour market there will be a lack of qualified workers to assist the elderly in their day-to-day activities. Another major issue is that with so many elderly citizens the current health care institutions in China are not adequately prepared to handle such a large number of retirees. There is also the added issue of reliable insurance schemes to cushion the elderly from potential financial ruin.
