

51Talk IELTS Speaking-Advanced 雅思口语高级
——冲刺 7.5 分

Unit 10 Media

Topic 4—Lesson 1(上篇)

Your favourite TV programme

I. Pronunciation Practice (2 minutes)

Silent 'e' with Letter 'a'

Generally, letter 'a' makes the sound / æ/ in words like lam;
however, when we add 'e' at the end of the word: lame, 'a'
makes the sound / ei/, and 'e' doesn't make a sound.

Read the following words and pay attention to the sound 'a' makes.

mat /æ/

mate /ei/

nap

nape

pan

pane

II. IELTS Speaking Part 1 (8 minutes)

Extend your answer to 3-4 sentences. It's easier to get 7.5.

1. Imagine you are a candidate in the IELTS test. The teacher is an examiner. Please answer the questions below with what you have learned to develop your IELTS answers. (4 minutes)

Are historic buildings important?

Do you think museums are important to young people?

Is it a good idea for museums to sell things to visitors?

The examiner will score your answer from the following aspects:

1. How good you are at keeping talking at the right speed and connecting your ideas together;
2. How much vocabulary you have and how well you use it;
3. How many structures you have and how well you use them;
4. How well you pronounce the language.

2. Read and learn the following key words and models for the IELTS Part 1. You are suggested to apply these words in the following steps. (4 minutes)

Key Words and Models

throne

Example: This depends on the buildings in question and the location of them. Similar to some historic events being more important than others, so are historic buildings. For example, a throne where a once mighty king and queen ruled over a vast empire has more historic value than a building a president of the United States stayed in for only a fortnight. Also, if a historic building of little relevance is in the way of important building projects, then I think it should be demolished.

against one's will

Example: I think museums are important to all people, not just young people. Unfortunately, most young people get little fulfillment from visiting museums. It is not until you have grown up that you really begin to appreciate museums as valuable resources for knowledge. To add to the problem, those same adults will often drag their children to museums against their will, which causes them to form negative associations with museums.

lucrative business

Example: Running a museum is not a very lucrative business, as they are really meant to be beacons for alternative forms of learning. In that regard, I believe it is necessary for museums to make supplemental incomes based on selling interesting or education-based items in their gift shops. It is quite possible that without such extra incomes, museums' main function of showing off priceless artifacts would be overall diminished.

III. IELTS Speaking Part 2 (12 minutes)

1. Brainstorm. Plan your answers based on the given questions. (1 minute)

Describe an educational TV programme that you like to watch.

- What is the name of the programme?
- What type of programme is it?
- What contents does it have?
- What have you learnt from this programme?

Tips: During the first stage of Part 2, you don't need to talk. Keep the questions in mind and think them over.

2.1 Here is a model for the IELTS Speaking Part 2. We will focus on the words and expressions highlighted and in red below. (8 minutes)

Model 1

Name of the programme: A programme that I love watching is called Through the Wormhole. It is broadcast every Monday on the Discovery Channel.

What type of programme it is: This particular programme is all about science. It is mainly geared towards learning complex theories in a more approachable way.

Its content: This show is narrated by the famous American actor Morgan Freeman. He presents extremely difficult-to-understand topics in an easily digestible format. Each week there is a different topic based on an overarching theme. For example, one of my favourite episodes was about the dark matter. According to leading researchers in theoretical physics, dark matter effects are observed, but its underlying mechanics are still not understood. Apparently, this unknown substance makes up about 25 percent of the universe and dark energy might be causing the universe's continued expansion.

What you learn from this programme: The best part about this educational programme is the amount of interesting material presented in such a simple way. I get to learn a multitude of complex scientific theories in a way that is easy to comprehend and remember.

You are required to talk for the full 2 minutes.

2.2 Imagine you are a candidate in the IELTS test. The teacher is an examiner. Please answer the questions below with what you have learned to develop your IELTS answers. (3 minutes)

Describe an educational TV programme that you like to watch.

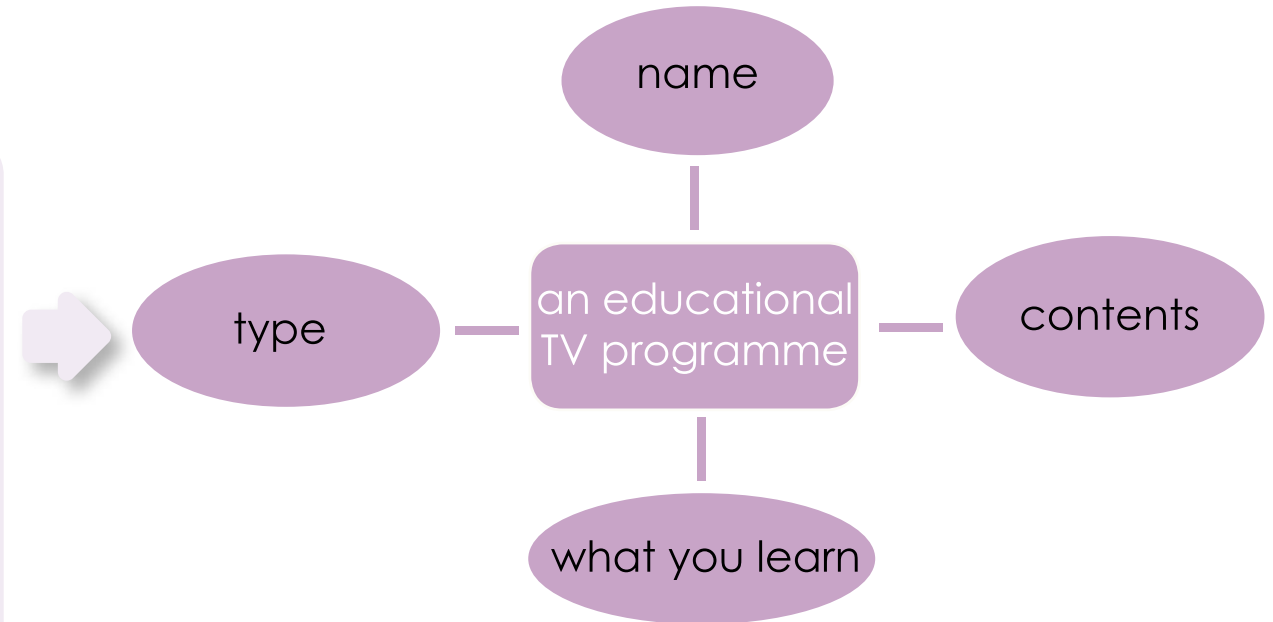

You should say:

the name of the programme

what type of programme it is what contents it has

and explain what you learn from this programme.

Homework: Please use the model for these two topics for further practice.

Describe a famous person.

Describe a theory.

Review (2 minutes)

Key Words & Expressions

throne

against one's will

lucrative business

narrate

digestible

underlying mechanics

Key Sentences

For example, a throne where a once mighty king and queen ruled over a vast empire has more historic value than a building a president of the United States stayed in for only a fortnight.

To add to the problem, those same adults will often drag their children to museums against their will.

Running a museum is not a very lucrative business as they are really meant to be beacons for alternative forms of learning.

This show is narrated by the famous American actor Morgan Freeman.

He presents extremely difficult-to-understand topics in an easily digestible format.

According to leading researchers in theoretical physics, dark matter effects are observed, but its underlying mechanics are still not understood.

You will learn more about this topic in Lesson 2.