Describe your favourite magazine and newspaper.

You should say:

where you usually buy it

what parts of it you most enjoy reading

where you usually read it and explain how it compares to other things you read.

Tips: During the first stage of Part 2, you don't need to talk. Keep the questions in mind and think them over.

2.3 Here is another model for the IELTS Speaking Part 2. We will focus on the words and expressions highlighted and in red below. (5 minutes)

Model 2

Where you usually buy it: There is a nice newspaper stand located near my apartment complex. I will stop by about once a month to check if they have my favourite paper in stock. The China Daily keeps me informed on current events in my country.

What parts of it you most enjoy reading: My favourite section of the paper pertains to economics. I love staying informed on how currencies are doing around the world. And of course I am especially concerned about our country's currency, the yuan. Reading this paper makes me intelligent when I hang out with my friends. I also enjoy reading the section dedicated to politics. Studying international relations in college through these sections really helps me stand out amongst other students whenever there is an exam.

Where you usually read it: I always read this paper in the school library. Seldom do we have to attend classes in the evenings, so I have ample time to read my favourite paper.

How it compares to other things you read: Compared to other papers, this one is the most informative on my country's domestic situation, which makes it the best source for anyone interested in China.

IV. IELTS Speaking Part 3 (10 mins)

1. Please answer the following question from Part 3. According to your answer, the teacher will give you feedback on how to improve your organisational skills. (5 minutes)

How to organise your answer in Part 3:

I: Introduction Sentence + P: Points (Point1, Point2...)

What are the differences between newspapers and magazines?

I: According to my observations, newspapers and magazines have three key differences.

P1: Firstly, there is a difference in price, with magazines being more expensive than newspapers.

P2: Secondly, there is a difference in content. Newspapers tend to cover general news, whereas magazines are more specialised.

P3: Last but not least, the styles are different in these two paper mediums. Newspapers are normally in black and white, while magazines are always in colour.

2. You will learn some key words and expressions from these questions. Pay attention to the structure of the underlined sentences, and the words in red. (5 minutes)

Key Words and Models

Do you think newspapers will be replaced by computers someday?

 Instead of being totally replaced by computers, newspapers, in my opinion, tend to go digital in the future. In other words, I believe many paper-based items will be transformed into electronic sources that are conveniently downloaded and read on computers or other devices. The reason why they will be changed is that it is more environmentally friendly and also cheaper to buy digital products compared to physical ones.

What do you think a highly qualified journalist should be like?

 In my opinion, a qualified journalist should be a versatile person. They should be at ease in almost any environment and under many varying circumstances. A good journalist should also be extremely ethical and be able to tell the truth no matter what. Furthermore, it is also important for a journalist to be in decent physical condition in case a story he is trying to break requires a lot of running around in extreme conditions.
