

51Talk IELTS Speaking-Advanced

雅思口语高级

——冲刺 7.5 分

Unit 11 Education

Topic 6—Lesson 1(上篇)

A piece of advice you have received

I. Pronunciation Practice (2 minutes)

the Preposition 'to'

The preposition 'to' is usually pronounced as /t'/or/tə/.

Example:

to school /t'sku:l/

Read the following sentences and pay attention to 'to'.

To be or not to be. /t' bi/

I don't know what to do.

You've got to pay to get it.

II. IELTS Speaking Part 1 (8 minutes)

Extend your answer to 3-4 sentences. It's easier to get 7.5.

1. Imagine you are a candidate in the IELTS test. The teacher is an examiner. Please answer the questions below with what you have learned to develop your IELTS answers. (4 minutes)

Do people often read newspapers in your country?

What kind of magazine is very popular in your country?

Why are some people interested in gossip magazines?

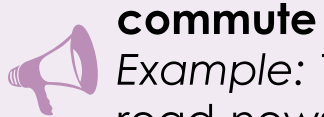

The examiner will score your answer from the following aspects:

1. How good you are at keeping talking at the right speed and connecting your ideas together;
2. How much vocabulary you have and how well you use it;
3. How many structures you have and how well you use them;
4. How well you pronounce the language.

2. Read and learn the following key words and models for the IELTS Part 1. You are suggested to apply these words in the following steps. (4 minutes)

Key Words and Models

commute

Example: The newspaper industry is not exactly thriving in China, but there is a specific subset of people that read newspapers. Many people in China have an abnormally long commute time and thus they spend a lot of time reading. In fact so many people read the paper on the subway that some people even stand outside each station in order to gather the papers for recycling later.

garner one's attention

Example: The most popular type of magazines in China right now are related to fashion. Out of the numerous magazines that are selling well, it is women's fashion magazines that garner the most attention on the Chinese market. Women all over China look to these magazines for inspiration on what to wear and what not to wear. Actually, these magazines seem to dictate current fashion trends in China.

sensational news

Example: The majority of people that are interested in gossip magazines are the type of people attracted to sensational news. In my opinion, people that have normal or boring lives tend to find these interesting, because they have no other outlet in life that brings them that level of excitement. Also, I think these same people lack proper communication skills and probably use gossip as a way to communicate with their peers.

III. IELTS Speaking Part 2 (12 minutes)

1. Brainstorm. Plan your answers based on the given questions. (1 minute)

Describe some advice you received for your study.

- What was the advice?
- Who gave you this advice?
- Why did you need this advice?
- How important the advice was to you ?

Tips: During the first stage of Part 2, you don't need to talk. Keep the questions in mind and think them over.

2.1 Here is a model for the IELTS Speaking Part 2. We will focus on the words and expressions highlighted and in red below. (8 minutes)

Model 1

What the advice was: The best piece of advice I have ever received was in primary school. The advice was about solving complex equations. The advice was, "try to transform difficult equations into word problems; this makes them much easier to solve, because they are relatable."

Who gave you this advice: The person that gave me this advice was my math teacher. She was a very intelligent woman in her late twenties, I guess.

Why you needed this advice: The reason I needed such advice was that I was having trouble understanding algebraic equations, such as the equation " $X + Y = 5$ ".

How important was this advice to you: This piece of advice really helped me grasp the more difficult concepts in algebra. Before I received the advice I had been hopelessly trying to solve these equations. But thanks to my teacher's understanding of why I was having these difficulties, she was able to give me advice that made my school life much easier. She realised that I was a visual learner and therefore would benefit by having real-world objects and concepts replace the unknown variables. Based on this perceptive, my teacher offered me such an enlightening suggestion. Since then, I have never had any other issues related to math in my life.

You are required to talk for the full 2 minutes.

2.2 Imagine you are a candidate in the IELTS test. The teacher is an examiner. Please answer the questions below with what you have learned to develop your IELTS answers. (3 minutes)

Describe some advice you received for your study.

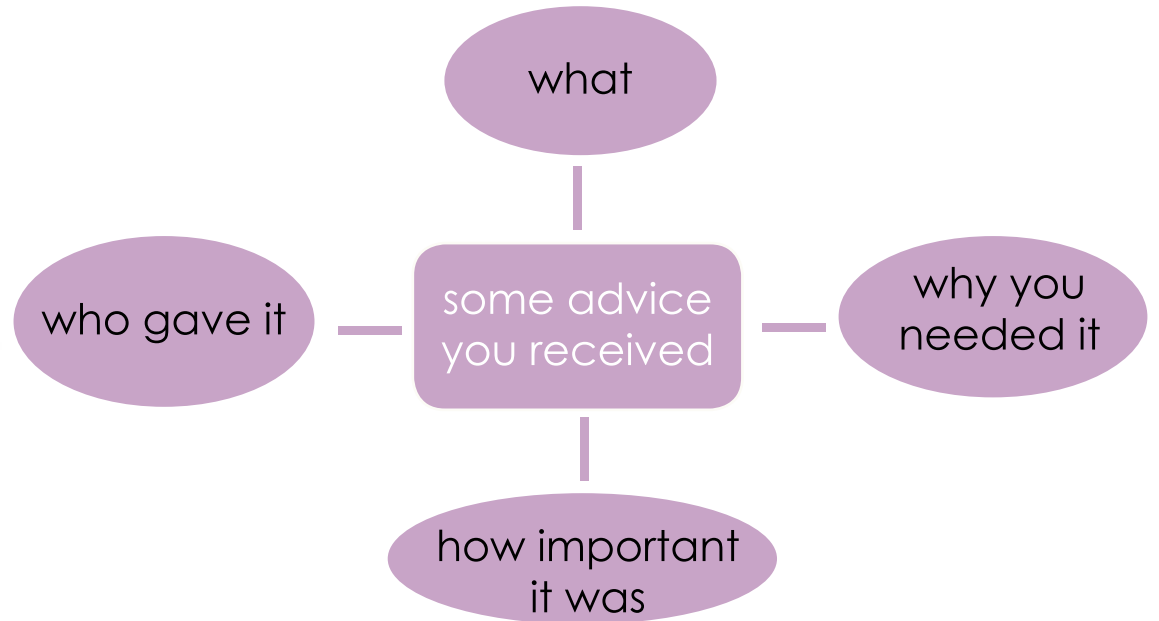

You should say:

what the advice was

who gave you this advice

why you needed this advice and explain how important the advice to you.

Homework: Please use the model for these two topics for further practice.

Describe a good teacher.

Describe a subject you liked/disliked.

Review (2 minutes)

Key Words & Expressions

commute

garner one's attention

sensational news

relatable

algebraic equation

perceptive

Key Sentences

Many people in China have abnormally long commute time and thus they spend a lot of time reading.

Out of the numerous magazines that are selling well, it is woman's fashion magazines that garner the most attention on the Chinese market.

The majority of people that are interested in gossip magazines are the type of people attracted to sensational news.

Try to transform difficult equations into word problems; this makes them much easier to solve, because they are relatable.

The reason I needed such advice was that I was having trouble understanding algebraic equations.

Based on this perspective, my teacher offered me such an enlightening suggestion.

You will learn more about this topic in Lesson 2.