Questionnaire or survey

IELTS Speaking Part 2 (10 minutes)

You will be given one minute to prepare to talk about the topic on the task card. You will have to talk for 1-2 minutes, and then the teacher will give you feedback for 2-3mins. (5 minutes)

Describe a time when you were asked to give your opinion in a questionnaire or survey.

You should say:

what the questionnaire or survey was about

why you were asked to give your opinions

what opinions you gave and explain how you felt about giving your opinions in this questionnaire or survey.

Tips: During the first stage of Part 2, you don't need to talk. Keep the questions in mind and think them over.

2.3 Here is another model for the IELTS Speaking Part 2. We will focus on the words and expressions highlighted and in red below. (5 minutes)

Model 2

What the questionnaire or survey was about: I distinctly remember taking a simple survey while I was having fun at the Disneyland.

Why you were asked to give your opinions: I imagine I was asked to take part in this little survey because I was around thirteen years old, and people of this age are perfectly fit for their target demographic.

What opinions you gave: I gave them my opinions about their rides and overall atmosphere at the theme park. I told them that their rides were amazing, but that they should design more rides specially geared towards an ageing audience. I remember telling them that their roller coaster rides also ought to be bigger with small lines! I also suggested that they add more interactive elements to the theme park, such as areas with lots of fog or areas of the park filled with futuristic elements.

How you felt about giving your opinion: Knowing that this giant and renowned company wanted to know my opinions, I felt honoured. The fact that they took the time to get to know what their customers actually wanted really gave me a feeling of being important and that my opinions mattered. Also, I was extremely delighted at the time because they also gave me a free T-shirt for my time!

IV. IELTS Speaking Part 3 (10 mins)

1. Please answer the following question from Part 3. According to your answer, the teacher will give you feedback on how to improve your organisational skills. (5 minutes)

How to organise your answer in Part 3:

I: Introduction Sentence + P: Points (Point1, Point2...)

What kinds of organisations want to find out about people's opinions?

I: In fact, benefiting a lot from data, many types of organisations are eager to track people's opinions.

P1: Non-profit organisations wish to find out what causes people to be willing to donate money and what issues people are most concerned about.

P2: Of course, companies interested in profits need to know if people like or dislike their products. Then they can update their strategies so that they cater to the preferences of their target customers.

P3: Meanwhile, government organisations also benefit tremendously from keeping well informed about the perspectives of the citizens, especially as it pertains to policy issues.

2. You will learn some key words and expressions from these questions. Pay attention to the structure of the underlined sentences, and the words in red. (5 minutes)

Key Words and Models

Do you think that questionnaires or surveys are good ways of finding out people's opinions?

 I think the effectiveness of using questionnaires or surveys to find out people's opinions is up for debate. On the one hand, these two methods are great for collecting mountains of data that then can be used to make data models that are very useful for many purposes. However, it is very hard to know if people are actually answering these questionnaires or surveys truthfully. It is easy to imagine that people might be inclined to answer questions without actually giving them much thought, especially if they are not interested in the topic of the questions.

What reasons might people have for not wanting to give their opinions?

 In general, I think many people are afraid to give their opinions for several reasons. Firstly, I can imagine that many people are just not assertive enough to give their opinions. Also, I think many people are too sensitive to what other people think about them and therefore these same people will not wish to offend people with their honest opinions. Lastly, I think people don't want to give their opinions because they feel that it truly doesn't matter what they think and that their opinions have no effect on any given outcome.
