

51Talk IELTS Speaking-Advanced

雅思口语高级

——冲刺 7.5 分

Unit 2 Food

Topic 1—Lesson 1(上篇)

A meal (or dish) that you like to eat

I. Pronunciation Practice (2 minutes)

How to Link between Words

Example:

Sit up! (si-dap)

Stop it! (sto-pit)

Read the following sentences and circle the linked words based on the examples above.

1. I need it right now!

2. Beat it! You are such a loser.

3. Could you please read a story for me, Daddy?

II. IELTS Speaking Part 1 (8 minutes)

Extend your answer to 3-4 sentences. It's easier to get 7.5.

1. Imagine you are a candidate in the IELTS test. The teacher is an examiner. Please answer the questions below with what you have learned to develop your IELTS answers. (4 minutes)

What is special or unique about your country?

What industries are there in your country?

If you could change one thing about your country, what would it be?

The examiner will score your answer from the following aspects:

1. How good you are at keeping talking at the right speed and connecting your ideas together;
2. How much vocabulary you have and how well you use it;
3. How many structures you have and how well you use them;
4. How well you pronounce the language.

2. Read and learn the following key words and models for the IELTS Part 1. You are suggested to apply these words in the following steps. (4 minutes)

Key Words and Models

contribute to

Example: There are many factors that contribute to the uniqueness of my country, China. It is the world's most populous country with a population of over one billion and also the second largest country in terms of size. China is also well-known for being a cradle of civilisation, with a history beginning over four thousand years ago. Also, what makes China special is that four important inventions came from there: paper making, printing, the compass, and gunpowder.

refer to

Example: Being a developing nation, China is home to a diverse group of industries. I suppose two of the most popular industries are iron and steel manufacturing, as China's important exports are machinery and electrical equipment. China also happens to be one of the largest producers of textiles, which are exported all over the world. My country has often been referred to as the "the world's factory" by economists and news outlets, which indicates just how many of China's industries have an influence on the global economy.

burnt-out

Example: I would change the exam centric education system in China. Too many teachers in our schools are focused on the outdated method of only using exams to access whether or not a student has comprehended the material taught in class. In my opinion, schools should explore alternative methods to keep students from getting burnt-out. Every student, including myself, needs to be stimulated in the classroom, but exam upon exam is not the best way to do this!

III. IELTS Speaking Part 2 (12 minutes)

1. Brainstorm. Plan your answers based on the given questions. (1 minute)

Describe a meal (or dish) that you like to eat.

- What is it?
- Where do you usually eat it?
- What is the meal made of?
- Why do you like it?

Tips: During the first stage of Part 2, you don't need to talk. Keep the questions in mind and think them over.

2.1 Here is a model for the IELTS Speaking Part 2. We will focus on the words and expressions highlighted and in red below. (8 minutes)

Model 1

What: A dish I would like to discuss today is a timeless classic and well known throughout the western world. Though at first glance it doesn't appear to be hugely sophisticated, making it is actually an intricate process which requires plenty of practice. Of course I am talking about risotto.

Why you like it: This is the bread and butter of Italian food and if in doubt, it's always a safe bet to order this dish at a new restaurant due to the fact that it's just so hard to get wrong. Yet on the other hand, whilst it may be hard to get wrong, getting it right is a slight trek.

What it is made of: This owes itself to the delicacy of the rice, which can be overcooked with the slightest of miscalculations; its complexity is further increased when other ingredients are taken into consideration. Be that as it may, the creamy texture coupled with the subdued tastes makes this dish hard not to love.

Where: The very first time I came across this dish was in fact during my first trip to England and ever since it's been one of my favourites. Its versatility means it's simple to put together at home and with just whatever ingredients are lying around.

You are required to talk for the full 2 minutes.

2.2 Imagine you are a candidate in the IELTS test. The teacher is an examiner. Please answer the questions below with what you have learned to develop your IELTS answers. (3 minutes)

Describe a meal (or dish) that you like to eat.

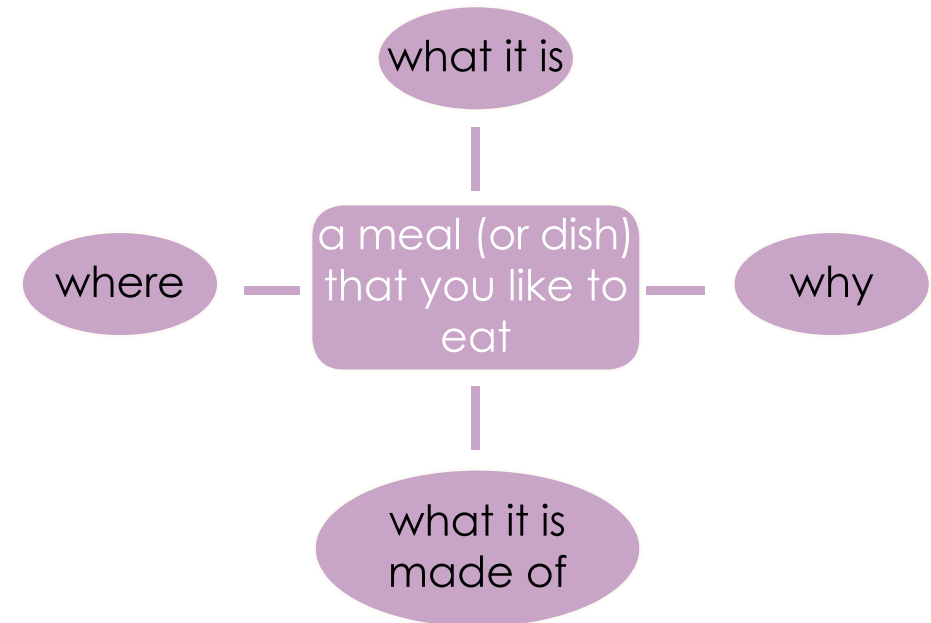

You should say:

what it is

where you usually eat it

what the meal is made of

and explain why you like it.

Homework: Please use the model for these two topics for further practice.

Describe one of the dishes you like to cook the most.

Describe an interesting dish you cooked before.

Review (2 minutes)

Key Words & Expressions

contribute to

refer to

burnt-out

at first glance

trek

texture

Key Sentences

There are many factors that contribute to the uniqueness of my country, China. It is the world's most populous country with a population of over one billion and also the second largest country in terms of size.

My country has often been referred to as the “the world's factory” by economists and news outlets, which indicates just how many of China's industries have an influence on the global economy.

In my opinion, schools should explore alternative methods to keep students from getting burnt-out.

Though at first glance it doesn't appear to be hugely sophisticated, making it is actually an intricate process which requires plenty of practice.

Yet on the other hand, whilst it may be hard to get wrong, getting it right is a slight trek.

Be that as it may, the creamy texture coupled with the subdued tastes makes this dish hard not to love.

You will learn more about this topic in Lesson 2.