

51Talk IELTS Speaking-Advanced

雅思口语高级

——冲刺 7.5 分

Unit 12 Others

Topic 6—Lesson 1(上篇)

Something dangerous

I. Pronunciation Practice (2 minutes)

the Preposition 'at'

The /t/ sound of preposition 'at' can be reduced in sentences.

Example:

I'm at school. /ə(t) sku:l /

Read the following sentences and pay attention to at.

The meeting is at one. /ə(t)/

He is at the post office.

Leave it at the door.

II. IELTS Speaking Part 1 (8 minutes)

Extend your answer to 3-4 sentences. It's easier to get 7.5.

1. Imagine you are a candidate in the IELTS test. The teacher is an examiner. Please answer the questions below with what you have learned to develop your IELTS answers. (4 minutes)

What type of public transport do you prefer?

What public transport is available in your hometown?

What are the main causes of road accidents in China?

The examiner will score your answer from the following aspects:

1. How good you are at keeping talking at the right speed and connecting your ideas together;
2. How much vocabulary you have and how well you use it;
3. How many structures you have and how well you use them;
4. How well you pronounce the language.

2. Read and learn the following key words and models for the IELTS Part 1. You are suggested to apply these words in the following steps. (4 minutes)

Key Words and Models

horrid

Example: I find most forms of public transport to be intolerable; however, the least horrid of all options is the subway. The reason I prefer this form of transport is simple: it is affordable while also being the most convenient way to move around Beijing. By taking the subway you can avoid the awful traffic jams that are all too frequent in my city.

mass transit system

Example: My hometown is actually the capital of China, so we have every form of public transport imaginable. As a matter of fact, Beijing has one of the most extensive mass transit systems among all other cities in China. The most popular form of public transport here is perhaps the subway. As an alternative to the underground railway, you can take the bus in my to almost everywhere in Beijing, or you can also take a moderately affordable taxi ride.

doze off

Example: The main cause of accidents on the road in China is negligence. Many people in China tend to work long hours, which means they sometimes drive even when drowsy. These drivers will doze off while behind the wheel, causing crashes all over China. Another major cause of accidents on the road is related to drunk driving.

III. IELTS Speaking Part 2 (12 minutes)

1. Brainstorm. Plan your answers based on the given questions. (1 minute)

Describe something you think is dangerous.

- What is it and why do you think it is dangerous ?
- Do other people also think it's dangerous?
- Does this dangerous thing have any good points?
- Are you good at handling dangerous situations?

Tips: During the first stage of Part 2, you don't need to talk. Keep the questions in mind and think them over.

2.1 Here is a model for the IELTS Speaking Part 2. We will focus on the words and expressions highlighted and in red below. (8 minutes)

Model 1

What it is and why you think it's dangerous: An activity that I think is exceedingly dangerous is swimming in the ocean. There are several reasons why it is dangerous. First of all, there are sharks that sometimes mistake people for food. Secondly, there are also poisonous sea snakes, jelly fish, and other exotic creatures. Next, the water itself is dangerous. Riptides have been known to pull people underwater and drag them out to sea.

Whether other people also think it's dangerous: I must say that not too many environments are as unforgiving as the ocean. For centuries man has both respected and feared the great expanses of water. So it would seem a moderate number of people feel the same way I do; however, many people continue to visit coastal regions around the world, probably due to the love-hate relationship humanity has formed with the ocean.

Whether this dangerous thing has any good points: There are numerous good points about the ocean. For example, swimming in the ocean's salty water is extremely good for your skin and it also provides a more than adequate form of exercise.

Are you good at handling dangerous situations: I do not think I am good at handling dangerous situations. If there is any situation that could possibly cause injury or death I would absolutely break down and freeze in terror. In this respect, I believe I am the same as the majority of people on this planet. After all, you basically only have two choices, fight or flight.

You are required to talk for the full 2 minutes.

2.2 Imagine you are a candidate in the IELTS test. The teacher is an examiner. Please answer the questions below with what you have learned to develop your IELTS answers. (3 minutes)

Describe something you think is dangerous.

You should say:

what it is and why you think it is dangerous

whether other people also think it's dangerous

whether this dangerous thing has any good points and say if you are good at handling dangerous situations.

whether other people think it is dangerous

something dangerous

what it is and why
it is dangerous

whether it has good points

if you are good at handling dangerous situations

Homework: Please use the model for these two topics for further practice.

Describe an outdoor activity.

Describe an illegal act.

Review (2 minutes)

Key Words & Expressions

horrid

mass transit system

doze off

mistake for

jelly fish

freeze in terror

Key Sentences

I find most forms of public transport to be intolerable; however, the least horrid of all options is the subway.

As a matter of fact, Beijing has one of the most extensive mass transit systems among all other cities in China.

These drivers will doze off while behind the wheel, causing crashes all over China.

First of all, there are sharks that sometimes mistake people for food.

Secondly, there are also poisonous sea snakes, jelly fish, and other exotic creatures.

If there is any situation that could possibly cause injury or death I would absolutely break down and freeze in terror.

You will learn more about this topic in Lesson 2.