Topic 6—Lesson 2(下篇)

Something dangerous

IELTS Speaking Part 2 (10 minutes)

You will be given one minute to prepare to talk about the topic on the task card. You will have to talk for 1-2 minutes, and then the teacher will give you feedback for 2-3mins. (5 minutes)

Describe something you think is dangerous.

You should say:

what it is and why you think it is dangerous

whether other people also think it's dangerous

whether this dangerous thing has any good points and say if you are good at handling dangerous situations.

Tips: During the first stage of Part 2, you don't need to talk. Keep the questions in mind and think them over.

2.3 Here is another model for the IELTS Speaking Part 2. We will focus on the words and expressions highlighted and in red below. (5 minutes)

Model 2

What it is and why you think it's dangerous: Something that is very dangerous is drinking and driving. Alcohol can impair your ability to make sound decisions and although drinking can be fun, it is only safe in moderation. When consumed, alcohol also slows your reaction time, which means if you get behind the wheel of vehicle, you become a dangerous weapon.

Whether other people also think it's dangerous: Everyone agrees that drunk driving is dangerous. That is why it is illegal in practically every civilised country. If you are caught drinking and driving, you might face hefty fines or even jail time.

Whether this dangerous thing has any good points: There are absolutely no advantages to drinking and driving. It is something considered entirely dangerous with no redeeming qualities.

Are you good at handling dangerous situations: I am terrible when it comes to handling most dangerous situations, but when it comes to drinking and driving, I am very good at avoiding this tricky issue. Whenever I drink, I always make it a point to take a taxi home. I even make sure my friends do not drink and drive. If we happen to drink at my house, I always give them the option of spending the night on my couch!

IV. IELTS Speaking Part 3 (10 mins)

1. Please answer the following question from Part 3. According to your answer, the teacher will give you feedback on how to improve your organisational skills. (5 minutes)

How to organise your answer in Part 3:

T: Topic Sentence + S: Supporting Details (Explanation/Examples)

Do you think that extreme sports are dangerous?

T: As the name implies, extreme sports are usually very dangerous.

S1: Taking part in these types of sports requires many years of practice. There are multiple injuries suffered by athletes every year, but injuries incurred by amateurs are also on the rise.

S2: Over the last decade or so people have begun imitating what they see on TV, so these extreme sports have caused many people to put themselves in harm's way by reenacting those dangerous scenes. Extreme sports should definitely be left to professional athletes.

2. You will learn some key words and expressions from these questions. Pay attention to the structure of the underlined sentences, and the words in red. (5 minutes)

Key Words and Models

What can we do to prevent dangerous things from happening?

 It might be soothing to believe that we can prevent dangerous things from happening, but in reality we have little control over such matters. We cannot predict the future; therefore, trying to reduce one's chances of being in danger is quite futile. The only true way to avoid danger would be to lock yourself away like a hermit, but even then there is still danger of developing a disease or being infected by a virus.

Some people think that we can learn much from dangerous things. Do you agree or disagree, and why?

 I tend to agree with this statement, but with a few caveats. It really depends on what dangerous things we are discussing; for example, natural disasters are something that can teach us little. However, if we are talking about dangerous things related to human activities, there are some lessons that can be learned. The reason we can learn from dangerous activities related to people is that these events can be altered by studying what variables caused the adverse conditions in the first place.
