Unit 3 Places

Topic 1—Lesson 2(下篇)

The ideal home that you would like to live in

IELTS Speaking Part 2 (10 minutes)

You will be given one minute to prepare to talk about the topic on the task card. You will have to talk for 1-2 minutes, and then the teacher will give you feedback for 2-3mins. (5 minutes)

Describe the ideal home that you would like to live in.

You should say:

where it would be what type of house it would be

how you would decorate it and explain why you would like to live in this kind of home.

Tips: During the first stage of Part 2, you don't need to talk. Keep the questions in mind and think them over.

2.3 Here is another model for the IELTS Speaking Part 2. We will focus on the words and expressions highlighted and in red below. (5 minutes)

Model 2

What type: Being someone young and of working age, which is also immediately associated with a distinct lack of money, I would like to live in a place which is considered to be impressive and lavish, yet it is also preferably close enough to civilisation so that I can find my way to work with relative ease.

Where and how to decorate: One such place that ticks all the boxes would be One Hyde Park, located in London. It's a small apartment that just reeks of high social class and prestige. One of the most expensive houses in London, it is situated neighbouring to the world-famous Hyde Park, which is in itself a rare find in such a large and packed city, and next to well established shops such as Harrods.

Why: I want to live there mainly because of the area it is situated in. Knightsbridge contains all the luxuries of the world there available for me to enjoy. Its Royal Albert Hall means a great deal to a keen music lover like me; furthermore, as for a foodie like me, a wealth of restaurants and cuisines represent an undeniable attraction. All in all, this place has everything and more that I would desire.

IV. IELTS Speaking Part 3 (10 mins)

1. Please answer the following question from Part 3. According to your answer, the teacher will give you feedback on how to improve your organisational skills. (5 minutes)

How to organise your answer in Part 3:

T: Topic Sentence + S: Supporting Details (Explanation/Examples)

How do buildings in different parts of China differ from each other?

T: Generally, one can differentiate between northern and southern building styles and architecture primarily through examining the building materials used.

S: Northern Chinese cities tend to construct more concrete buildings, while southern Chinese cities oftentimes use wood as the building material. This is a reflection of the climatic difference in these two sections of the country. The North of China tends to be colder and therefore uses building materials that are more insulated. In the South, the materials are constrained to the more, shall we say, breathable type, as it is usually quite hot in the South.

2. You will learn some key words and expressions from these questions. Pay attention to the structure of the underlined sentences, and the words in red. (5 minutes)

Key Words and Models

How does the environment of a place affect the design of the buildings in that place?

The natural environment plays a vital role in determining the designs of buildings. Planners of cities constructed in tropical places must take environmental factors such as heat and humidity into consideration, especially when it comes to mold protection and air conditioning. Conversely, buildings in northern, colder environments must be installed with proper heating systems during the chilly winter months. In a third example, buildings near areas that suffer from frequent flooding are often built on stilts.

In what ways can buildings be more environmentally friendly?

There are several ways that buildings can become greener. In China, many buildings take advantage of the advances in solar power and other renewable energy sources in order to lower the dependence on polluting fossil fuels like coal. While air pollution in particular is a problem, the use of flat surfaces on buildings for mounting solar panels is one way in which we can make a structure more environmentally friendly.
