

51Talk IELTS Speaking-Advanced

雅思口语高级

——冲刺 7.5 分

Unit 1 People

Topic 1—Lesson 2(下篇)

A family member you like

IELTS Speaking Part 2 (10 minutes)

You will be given one minute to prepare to talk about the topic on the task card. You will have to talk for 1-2 minutes, and then the teacher will give you feedback for 2-3mins. (5 minutes)

Describe someone in your family who you like.

You should say:

how this person is related to you

what this person looks like what kind of person he/she is and explain why you like this person.

Tips: During the first stage of Part 2, you don't need to talk. Keep the questions in mind and think them over.

2.3 Here is another model for the IELTS Speaking Part 2. We will focus on the words and expressions highlighted and in red below. (5 minutes)

Model 2

How: For arguments' sake and without sounding too fake, my mother is by far the family member that has always been there for me, at least from my point of view.

What: My mother was quite young when she married my father, which gave her the appearance of looking younger than she was during my childhood. She was well-known by my classmates due to her fiery red hair and persistent participation in school functions. She held herself quite well for a woman that was 160 centimetres tall and she always wore a smile on her face.

What kind: She was also quite well-known among her peers, especially since she was more than slightly active in the Parents' Commission in my school. Not only I, but even my friends could always count on my mother for advice or help.

Why: I admire, respect, and love my mother unconditionally for multiple reasons. It is not only because she brought me into this world, but mostly the way she raised me. She taught me the value of hard work and determination. She always made sure I finished my homework before I could play with my friends in the neighbourhood, which has made me a productive member of the workforce. She also taught me how to be a loving and caring individual. I am most grateful for the lessons she has taught me, and this is why I like my mother.

IV. IELTS Speaking Part 3 (10 mins)

1. Please answer the following question from Part 3. According to your answer, the teacher will give you feedback on how to improve your organisational skills. (5 minutes)

How to organise your answer in Part 3:

I: Introduction Sentence + P: Points (Point1, Point2...)

In what ways can people in a family be similar to each other?

I: When it comes to a traditional nuclear family, most of the family members will undoubtedly have striking similarities.

P1: The most obvious traits family members will have in common are genetics. For example, a mother and her son may share the same hair colour or eye colour. Actually, such similarities mainly depend on the mother's and the father's genes, namely their dominant genes.

P2: Furthermore, people living in the same household will subconsciously adapt to one another's behavioural patterns, or even accept the same rituals, such as brushing their teeth at a certain time or enjoying the same types of food.

2. You will learn some key words and expressions from these questions. Pay attention to the structure of the underlined sentences, and the words in red. (5 minutes)

Key Words and Models

Where can people in your country get information about genetic research?

 There is an excess of ways that Chinese people can get reliable information on genetics. In Beijing alone there are over ten genetic research laboratories. If one is so inclined to pursue knowledge on genetics, they only need to visit, or perhaps volunteer at any of these labs. People can always log onto the Internet and gain insight on the subject through self-study if they are serious about genetic research.

Should this research be funded by governments or private companies? Why?

 I think research should be funded by a combination of direct government involvement, government finance and private companies. As it relates to research, competition is healthy; it is only when one single group is dominant in a field that you see the lack of breakthroughs. Even if each research group has different motives for funding, the ends usually justify the means, which benefits society as a whole.

V. Summary (5 minutes)

Key Words & Expressions

persistent count on

productive

subconsciously

be inclined to the ends usually justify the means

Key Sentences

She was well-known by my classmates due to her fiery red hair and persistent participation in school functions.

Not only I, but even my friends could always count on my mother for advice or help.

She always made sure I finished my homework before I could play with my friends in the neighbourhood, which has made me a productive member of the workforce.

Furthermore, people living in the same household will subconsciously adapt to one another's behavioural patterns, or even accept the same rituals.

If one is so inclined to pursue knowledge on genetics, they only need to visit, or perhaps volunteer at any of these labs.

Even if each research group has different motives for funding, the ends usually justify the means, which benefits society as a whole.

The next lesson will be Unit 1 Topic 2 A famous person you would like to meet.