Unit 4 Objects

Topic 1—Lesson 2(下篇)

A gift you have received that was important to you

IELTS Speaking Part 2 (10 minutes)

You will be given one minute to prepare to talk about the topic on the task card. You will have to talk for 1-2 minutes, and then the teacher will give you feedback for 2-3mins. (5 minutes)

Describe a gift you have received that was important to you.

You should say:

what it is

who gave it to you

why it was given to you and explain why it is important.

Tips: During the first stage of Part 2, you don't need to talk. Keep the questions in mind and think them over.

2.3 Here is another model for the IELTS Speaking Part 2. We will focus on the words and expressions highlighted and in red below. (5 minutes)

Model 2

What & who gave it to you: I have received so many gifts over the years that it is difficult to recount just which one had the most impact on my life; however, if I had to choose one, it would be a set of encyclopedias that my grandfather gifted to me on my fourteenth birthday.

Why it was given to you: At the time it seemed like a rather insignificant gift from someone out of touch with what was in fashion for the youth at that time, but it turned out to be the opposite of this sentiment. I imagine that in my grandfather's infinite wisdom he saw fit to give me something more useful than a toy or a video game.

Why it is important: This set of books, much to my relatives' delight, managed to spark my interest in many a subject that was bound within its covers. Any queries I had at that time were answerable by my merely flicking through the pages and discovering on my own, which is a lost art these days as answers now display on screens without much in the way of searching. I suppose the most significant impact it ended up making on me was that it made me realize the importance of knowledge, and gave me a sense of satisfaction that can only be felt and associated with the pursuit of knowledge.

IV. IELTS Speaking Part 3 (10 mins)

1. Please answer the following question from Part 3. According to your answer, the teacher will give you feedback on how to improve your organisational skills. (5 minutes)

How to organise your answer in Part 3:

T: Topic Sentence + S: Supporting Details (Explanation/Examples)

Do you think people generally enjoy giving and receiving gifts? Why or why not?

T: The vast majority of people enjoy exchanging gifts.

S1: Actually, it's an effective way to show that you care about others, and it helps express your feelings beyond words. For instance, sending a lovely present to your friend on a special occasion, such as his birthday, will certainly strengthen your friendship better than merely saying "Happy Birthday".

S2: In addition, exchanging gifts also fills people with pleasure. Who doesn't get excited at the thought of receiving something new? I think giving and receiving gifts has always been a part of human culture, mostly because people can find joy in simple and trivial occurrences.

2. You will learn some key words and expressions from these questions. Pay attention to the structure of the underlined sentences, and the words in red. (5 minutes)

Key Words and Models

In your country, when do people usually give gifts? What kind of gifts do they give?

People usually give gifts on others' birthdays and weddings. All sorts of gifts are acceptable in the Chinese gift-giving culture. With regard to weddings and births, people will typically give a red envelope filled with money, normally avoiding sums that have the number 4 as a digit, since 4 in Chinese is a homophone for death. For superstitious reasons, gifts like a clock are considered inappropriate, and are not given to others on birthdays or weddings.

Do you agree or disagree: the price of a gift shows how much the giver cares about the recipient?

To be honest, I disagree that the price of a gift signifies how much the giver actually cares about the recipient. Instead, I prefer to use how much thought someone puts into a gift as a better standard of judging how much he cares about someone else. Just as my mother always says, "it is love that counts when you are giving a gift." Therefore, the value of gifts is very subjective. A gift's price demonstrates only the amount of money available that the gift-giver has. For example, a wealthy person is likely to give a more expensive gift than others. But that does not mean the person cares more about the recipient.
