

51Talk IELTS Speaking-Advanced

雅思口语高级

——冲刺 7.5 分

Unit 5 Leisure Activities

Topic 4—Lesson 1(上篇)

A game you liked to play when you were a child

I. Pronunciation Practice (2 minutes)

Compare '-ull' and '-dle'

dull: your tongue can drop between the sound of /d/ and /l/.

ladle: leave your tongue touching behind the teeth and just drop the sides to let the air pass out.

Read and compare the following words.

bull

hull

pull huddle

middle

coddle

II. IELTS Speaking Part 1 (8 minutes)

Extend your answer to 3-4 sentences. It's easier to get 7.5.

1. Imagine you are a candidate in the IELTS test. The teacher is an examiner. Please answer the questions below with what you have learned to develop your IELTS answers. (4 minutes)

Do you like going to concerts?

Do you think people generally prefer to go to concerts or listen to recordings of music

What benefits do you think people can get from going to concerts?

The examiner will score your answer from the following aspects:

1. How good you are at keeping talking at the right speed and connecting your ideas together;
2. How much vocabulary you have and how well you use it;
3. How many structures you have and how well you use them;
4. How well you pronounce the language.

2. Read and learn the following key words and models for the IELTS Part 1. You are suggested to apply these words in the following steps. (4 minutes)

Key Words and Models

sense

Example: I adore going to concerts. Concerts instill feelings of wonder, especially when you see music being created in front of your own eyes. They also allow you to sense the musicians' raw emotions and efforts they put into their works, because more often than not players on stage perform with such enthusiasm that it's difficult not to admire them and their music.

on the other side of that coin

Example: Generally, I think people prefer to listen to recordings of music. Recorded music is bought and therefore owned, which means a person can listen to their favourite songs repetitively. On the other side of that coin, the concert going experience is a one-off event and therefore only attending on rare occasions makes it less likely that people prefer it over listening to recorded music due to the sheer frequency of the former.

stick out

Example: Going to concerts is all about the experience so people mainly get the benefit of a memorable life event and that of making acquaintances. As one ages it's natural to have events that stick out as more interesting than others, so in this way the experience of attending a concert serves as a memory anchor. The other added benefit is that a multitude of people attending any concert creates great possibility to meet new people.

III. IELTS Speaking Part 2 (12 minutes)

1. Brainstorm. Plan your answers based on the given questions. (1 minute)

Describe a game (not about sport) you liked to play when you were a child

- What was the game?
- Who did you play it with?
- How did you play it?
- Why did you like this game?

Tips: During the first stage of Part 2, you don't need to talk. Keep the questions in mind and think them over.

2.1 Here is a model for the IELTS Speaking Part 2. We will focus on the words and expressions highlighted and in red below. (8 minutes)

Model 1

What the game was: A game that brings a swelling of memories flowing back to me is called Home. The objective was simple. First, we needed to allocate an area or an object as our territory, and then the purpose of the game was to reach each other's base without getting tag. Each team had one team member that guarded the area to prevent us from getting there. Realistically, it was just a somewhat more innovative version of Tag, so we didn't descend into the endless loop of chasing each other around. Having real goals was what made this game fun to play.

Who you used to play with it: I used to play this game with friends and whoever else was around. Sometimes teams were even comprised of complete strangers.

How you played it: Whenever we played the game, we'd circle off a column as the safe zone, and as the defender counted with his eyes squeezed shut, we'd all settle down right next to the column, hoping a surprise mad dash would save us from the inevitable pursuit. Of course, this tactic never really worked. We usually played in the darkness as this added another dimension to the game.

Why you liked this game: As a child, prohibited from our gadgets and electronics at school, this was one of the few ways that remained in order to entertain ourselves. Strict regulations kept us to a confined area and hide and seek simply seemed much too childish to us then. This was also the best method to interact with our friends while also keeping fit!

注：Tag (儿童玩的) 捉人游戏

You are required to talk for the full 2 minutes.

2.2 Imagine you are a candidate in the IELTS test. The teacher is an examiner. Please answer the questions below with what you have learned to develop your IELTS answers. (3 minutes)

Describe a game (not about sport) you liked to play when you were a child.

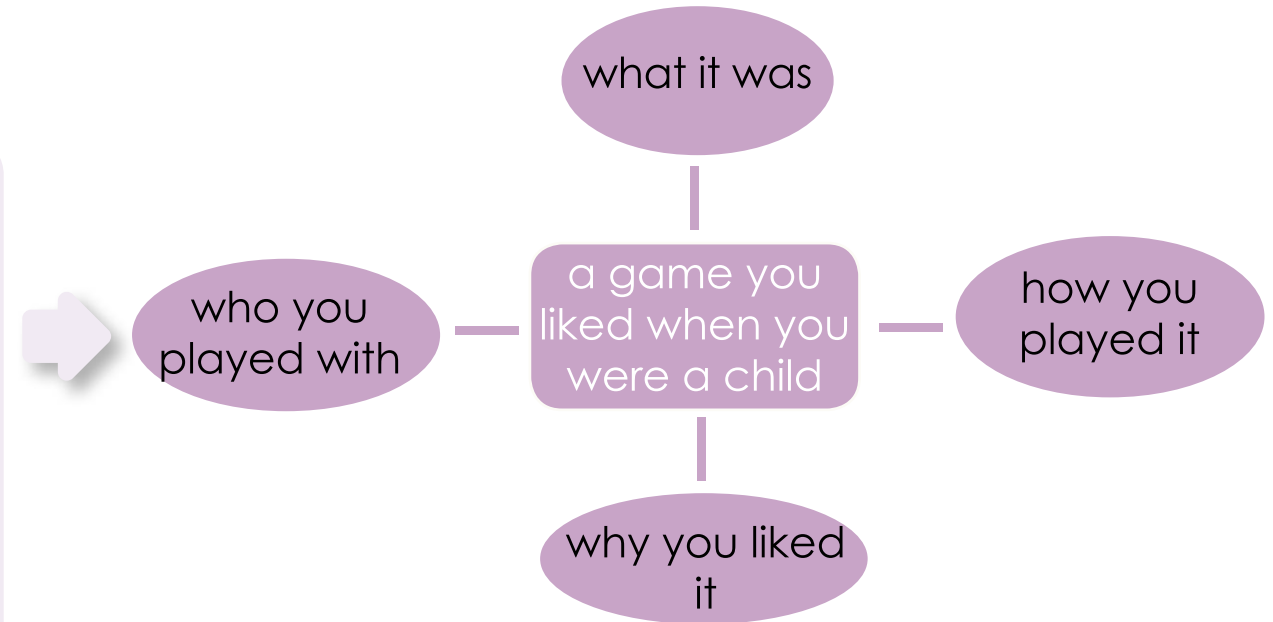

You should say:

what the game was

who you used to play it with

how you played it

and explain why you liked this game.

Homework: Please use the model for these two topics for further practice.

Describe an interesting game.

Describe something you did with others.

Review (2 minutes)

Key Words & Expressions

sense

on the other side of that coin

stick out

allocate tactic

hide and seek

Key Sentences

They also allow you to sense the musicians' raw emotions and efforts they put into their works, because more often than not players on stage perform with such enthusiasm that it's difficult not to admire them and their music.

On the other side of that coin, the concert going experience is a one-off event and therefore only attending on rare occasions makes it less likely that people prefer it over listening to recorded music due to the sheer frequency of the former.

As one ages it's natural to have events that stick out as more interesting than others, so in this way the experience of attending a concert serves as a memory anchor.

First, we needed to allocate an area or an object as your territory.

Of course, this tactic never really worked.

Strict regulations kept us to a confined area and hide and seek simply seemed much too childish to us then.

You will learn more about this topic in Lesson 2.