Unit 6 Nature

Topic 5—Lesson 2(下篇)

The worst weather in your life

IELTS Speaking Part 2 (10 minutes)

You will be given one minute to prepare to talk about the topic on the task card. You will have to talk for 1-2 minutes, and then the teacher will give you feedback for 2-3mins. (5 minutes)

Describe the worst weather you have experienced in your life.

You should say:

what it was

when it happened

what you were doing on that day and explain what negative influence the weather made.

Tips: During the first stage of Part 2, you don't need to talk. Keep the questions in mind and think them over.

2.3 Here is another model for the IELTS Speaking Part 2. We will focus on the words and expressions highlighted and in red below. (5 minutes)

Model 2

What it was: Have you ever experienced a hurricane? I have and it was a very terrifying ordeal. The wind blew at a sustained speed of about 80 miles per hour!

When it happened: I am very fond of vacationing on islands, because I love sunbathing and playing in the ocean. Last year I decided to visit a small island in the South Pacific.

What you were doing: On the morning when the hurricane blew in, I was taking a leisurely stroll along one of the island's famous piers. Since I did not speak the local language, I was oblivious to the warnings of the impending storm cell. While almost done with my morning walk, I noticed some monstrous waves on the horizon and further noticed the blackest storm clouds imaginable. I knew right away that I needed to find shelter. I managed to get back to my hotel just in time.

What negative influence the weather had: The hotel workers assured me that they thought the hurricane would pass by the small island; however, this was not the case and it utterly ruined my vacation. After all was said and done, I was told that it had been a Category-1 hurricane. I am just happy I was safe in the confine of my hotel room, because outside was a disaster zone with many areas of the city being flooded.

IV. IELTS Speaking Part 3 (10 mins)

1. Please answer the following question from Part 3. According to your answer, the teacher will give you feedback on how to improve your organisational skills. (5 minutes)

How to organise your answer in Part 3:

I: Introduction Sentence + P: Points (Point1, Point2...)

Do different parts of your country experience different types of bad weather?

I: China is a huge country with varying geographical areas, and this diverse set of landscapes causes different areas to have different types of bad weather.

P1: In the Southern part of China, where extreme weather conditions often occur, there is a high risk of torrential rain in summer, and it normally causes horrible floods.

P2: Conversely, in the Northern regions of China, there are often bitter snowstorms in winter, causing all kinds of havoc on the people living in those places.

2. You will learn some key words and expressions from these questions. Pay attention to the structure of the underlined sentences, and the words in red. (5 minutes)

Key Words and Models

How does bad weather affect people?

Bad weather can affect people in vastly different ways depending on the type of bad weather, its severity, and the location where the bad weather takes place. If we take an urban environment as our example, bad weather usually affects the flow of traffic, which means people will be late for work. Another issue related to bad weather in the city is that quantities of car wrecks will have a dramatic increase in frequency, which can be quite deadly for people involved.

Why do people live in places where the weather can sometimes be bad?

I cannot pretend to know what motivates people to live in one place that has bad weather, but I can make a few generalisations. People live in places with reoccurring bad weather simply because they have no other choice. Their jobs are located in this place and they are too financially comfortable to leave. Besides, people tolerate living in such places because the bad weather is actually tolerable compared to the bad weather elsewhere.
