Reading 4 min

Read with the teacher and then move to the Grammar Focus.

At the beginning of the school year, Jennifer found out that she would study a new subject called geography. She was very excited because some older kids from her school have mentioned that geography lessons are fun.

Grammar Focus

- have mentioned: present perfect tense of “mention” (say, tell).
- We use the present perfect tense to say that an action happened at an unspecified time before now.
- The pattern is: have/has + past participle of a main verb (learned, lived, etc.)
- e.g. I think I have met her before.
She has seen that movie.

Reading*4 min

Read with the teacher and then answer the question below.

The main reason for the fun that kids have in geography classes is Mr. Todd, the geography teacher. He has traveled the world, so he has interesting stories about each continent and country he teaches in class.

How does Mr. Todd make his lessons fun?

Reading*3 min

Read with the teacher and then answer the questions below.

Even though tests are scary, Jennifer and her classmates look forward to the geography one. That's because Mr. Todd gives a present to the student who gets the highest score.

Do you look forward to tests? Why or why not?

Reading*3 min

Read with the teacher and then answer the question below.

After marking all of the students' tests, Mr. Todd gave Jennifer a present for getting the highest score in class. It was a cute little globe which Jennifer loved a lot.

Is giving presents a good way to encourage students to learn?
