

JOURNEY to the WEST 77

The Magic Fan

When he finally landed,
he was far from the Iron Immortal's mountain.

The monkey went to Lingji's pagoda.

The bodhisattva handed a small stone to Wukong.

Wukong returned to the Iron Immortal's cave door.

A terrible wind blew past Wukong. But the monkey didn' t move.

The monkey pulled out his iron bar.

“Now give me that fan!”

The Iron Immortal reached for a cup of water.

Inside the Iron Immortal' s stomach,
Wukong changed back into himself.

Wukong leaped out through the woman's nose and returned to his normal size.

She reached into her robe and pulled out a fan.
“Here, take it. Now leave!”

The monkey waved the fan hard.

Suddenly there was a roar as the flames grew bigger,
filling the sky!