

JOURNEY to the WEST 88

The Priest's Plan

Wukong quickly grew tall.

He swung his iron bar furiously at the young women.

Wukong ran into the house. He saw a large form wrapped in spiderwebs in a corner.

“Wonderful,” said the Tang Monk as they went outside.

“Where is Bajie now?”

The travelers arrived at a Daoist abbey.

The priest led them to a sitting area.

“Wukong, why did you lie to the priest?”
asked the Tang Monk.

The three young women stood nearby,
and they looked angry.

“We caught the Tang Monk this morning,”
said one woman.

An evil smile flashed across the priest's face.

The priest returned to the travelers.

“Master!” cried the monkey. “Don’ t drink the—”
