Topic 2—Lesson 1(上篇)

A piece of interesting news

I. Pronunciation Practice (2 minutes)

Verb Tenses and Intonation: (the words in bold should be stressed, and different verb tenses should be connected when read)

The cats eat fish.

The cats ate fish.

The cats are eating fish.

The cats had eaten fish.

Read the following sentences and circle the words that need to be stressed.

1. The cats ought to eat fish.

2. The cats should've eaten fish.

3. The cats shouldn't have eaten fish.

II. IELTS Speaking Part 1 (8 minutes)

Extend your answer to 3-4 sentences. It's easier to get 7.5.

1. Imagine you are a candidate in the IELTS test. The teacher is an examiner. Please answer the questions below with what you have learned to develop your IELTS answers. (4 minutes)

Do you like your school, why?

How do you get along with your classmates?

Do you think it would be a good idea for schools to ask students for their opinions about lessons?

The examiner will score your answer from the following aspects:

1. How good you are at keeping talking at the right speed and connecting your ideas together;
2. How much vocabulary you have and how well you use it;
3. How many structures you have and how well you use them;
4. How well you pronounce the language.

2. Read and learn the following key words and models for the IELTS Part 1. You are suggested to apply these words in the following steps. (4 minutes)

Key Words and Models

dynamic

 Example: I suppose that I generally like my school. I find it to be a dynamic environment, and almost like a living organism that changes and reacts to the varying atmosphere in our school. There is always something interesting to talk about at my school, thanks to the sheer number of students, and younger people such as myself are always in the know and up to date on current events and trends.

exceptional

 Example: First of all there are a large number of classmates that I am not on a first-name basis with, but I do not consider this an exceptional occurrence as I suspect it is the norm at all schools. However, my classmates and I, talking with each other every day, have formed a great bond. We are able to share many secrets and can count on one another for support if we ever come across hardships.

behind the scenes

 Example: I do not think it would be a good idea and here is why. Even though it is behind the scenes, I assume that teachers and administrative staff employed at schools are highly professional and therefore effectively know not only what content to teach, but also the best methods to teach each lesson. Likewise, there is a nationally recognised standard for teaching as well a system of measurements that are in place for the purpose of creating sound learning environments.

III. IELTS Speaking Part 2 (12 minutes)

1. Brainstorm. Plan your answers based on the given questions. (1 minute)

Describe a piece of interesting/horrible news.

- When did you hear the news?
- Who was/were involved in the news?
- Why was it interesting/horrible?
- How did you feel after you heard the news?

Tips: During the first stage of Part 2, you don't need to talk. Keep the questions in mind and think them over.

2.1 Here is a model for the IELTS Speaking Part 2. We will focus on the words and expressions highlighted and in red below. (8 minutes)

Model 1

When you heard: This is not strictly speaking one piece of news, but rather a collection of events which form the current situation. An unfortunate truth of the 21st century is the global fight against terrorism. The most newsworthy mention of evil incarnated was the birth of the Islamic State (IS).

Who was involved in the news: The terrorist organisation known as IS gained world-wide attention when it took over a huge swath of land stretching from Syria to Iraq. They have even managed to produce their own currency and in all respects of the matter import and export goods like any established nation state.

Why interesting: The monstrous acts that IS commits does not qualify their news as interesting, but rather appalling and represent a lesson that world governments should take note of. Without proper and humane intervention in devastating cultural clashes, the world can never be secure and this is a hindrance to world peace.

How you felt after: Principally, IS is the product of a genocide that continued unabated as the world stood back and watched. It is the illegitimate child born of violence and hate as a result of murdered Syrians and millions displaced. This type of news makes me hyper aware of the current issues plaguing the world and it is also quite depressing creating uncertainty and doubt about my place in the world.

You are required to talk for the full 2 minutes.

2.2 Imagine you are a candidate in the IELTS test. The teacher is an examiner. Please answer the questions below with what you have learned to develop your IELTS answers. (3 minutes)

Describe a piece of interesting news.

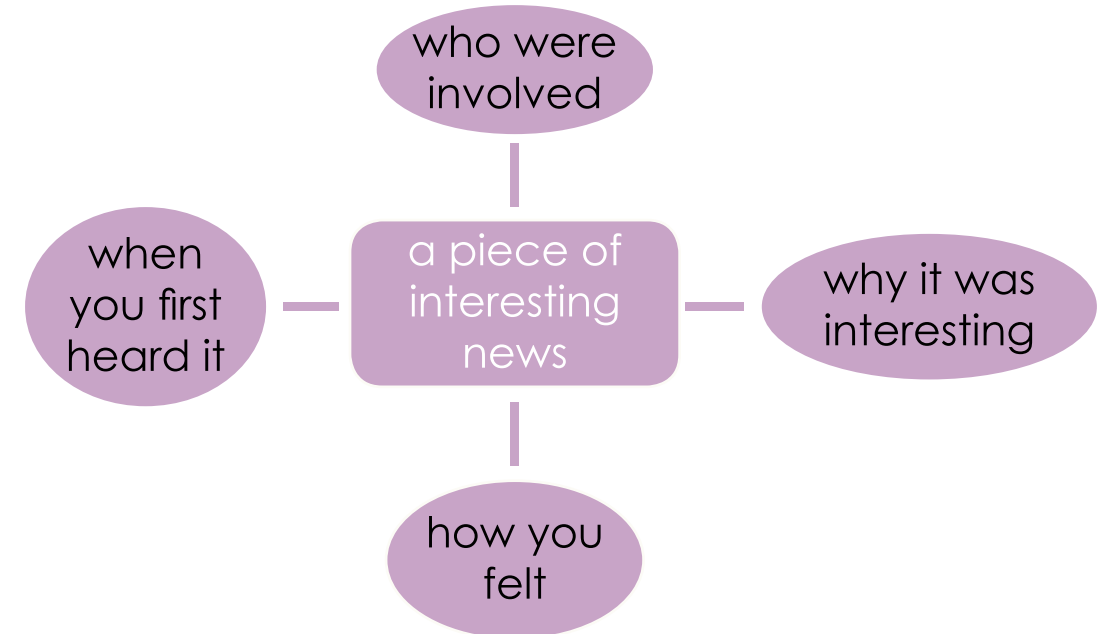

You should say:

when you heard the news

who was/were involved in the news

why it was interesting and explain how you felt after you heard the news.

Homework: Please use the model for these two topics for further practice.

Describe an organisation.

Describe a new discovery.
