

51Talk IELTS Speaking-Advanced

雅思口语高级

——冲刺 7.5 分

Unit 4 Objects

Topic 3—Lesson 1(上篇)

A book you recently read

I. Pronunciation Practice (2 minutes)

Intonation

Example:

- New information: it sounds like rain.
- Opinion: it sounds like rain, but it's not.

Read the following sentences and circle the words that need to be stressed.

1. —A: Come on. I will be back in one hour.

—B: It sounds like you are going to be back in three hours.

2. It smells like Dior, but it is not.

II. IELTS Speaking Part 1 (8 minutes)

Extend your answer to 3-4 sentences. It's easier to get 7.5.

1. Imagine you are a candidate in the IELTS test. The teacher is an examiner. Please answer the questions below with what you have learned to develop your IELTS answers. (4 minutes)

What's the weather like in your country?

How do rainy days make you feel?

What do you like doing when it's hot?

The examiner will score your answer from the following aspects:

1. How good you are at keeping talking at the right speed and connecting your ideas together;
2. How much vocabulary you have and how well you use it;
3. How many structures you have and how well you use them;
4. How well you pronounce the language.

2. Read and learn the following key words and models for the IELTS Part 1. You are suggested to apply these words in the following steps. (4 minutes)

Key Words and Models

incredibly

 Example: The weather in Beijing is incredibly unpleasant. Its climate is monsoon-influenced, which results in muggy and humid summers followed immediately by frigid and windy winters. Combined with seasonal variations of air pollution, these weather patterns ensure that living in Beijing isn't for the weak of heart.

rainy and gloomy

 Example: Rain and melancholy go hand in hand. It seems like rainy and gloomy are two adjectives destined to be used together. The prospect of being kept inside is enough to make any soul heavy and depressed. The only exception to that feeling is when the rain clears, and a blue sky emerges.

circulation

 Example: According to the Chinese traditional medicine, hot weather causes a feeling of moodiness and lethargy to come over people. To counteract that effect, I will generally find a cool place with sufficient air circulation so that I can focus on whatever I might be doing. I generally avoid air conditioning, as I believe it to cause respiratory problems.

III. IELTS Speaking Part 2 (12 minutes)

1. Brainstorm. Plan your answers based on the given questions. (1 minute)

Describe a book you recently read.

- What was the book?
- When did you read it?
- Why did you read it?
- What did you like and possibly dislike about the book?

Tips: During the first stage of Part 2, you don't need to talk. Keep the questions in mind and think them over.

2.1 Here is a model for the IELTS Speaking Part 2. We will focus on the words and expressions highlighted and in red below. (8 minutes)

Model 1

What it was: Words truly cannot express how deep my love runs for literature, and I wouldn't be doing this topic justice if I didn't mention this timeless American classic. The Jack London novel, The Call of the Wild, is an amazing story that I read when I was in primary school. And I have even re-read the book recently.

When and why you read it: This book has been described as one of the best works of fiction that has come out of the Americas, and also as a beautiful prose poem. The first time I dove into this book was when I was doing an assignment in school, which ended in a book report; and the second time I read the book, it was on my own accord.

What you liked (disliked) about the book: I love this book for much the same reason I like any books about nature. That is because I have an overwhelming affection for animals, and this novel and many other works by Jack London feature personification. It's great to read novels whose lead characters are canines or other types of animals. Plus, the plot and story structure of the book in question are excellent, and the author's vivid portrayal of frontier life has left little to the imagination. I especially like how this story touches on the primitive instincts humans and animals share, as it pertains to re-entering the wilderness.

You are required to talk for the full 2 minutes.

2.2 Imagine you are a candidate in the IELTS test. The teacher is an examiner. Please answer the questions below with what you have learned to develop your IELTS answers. (3 minutes)

Describe a book you recently read.

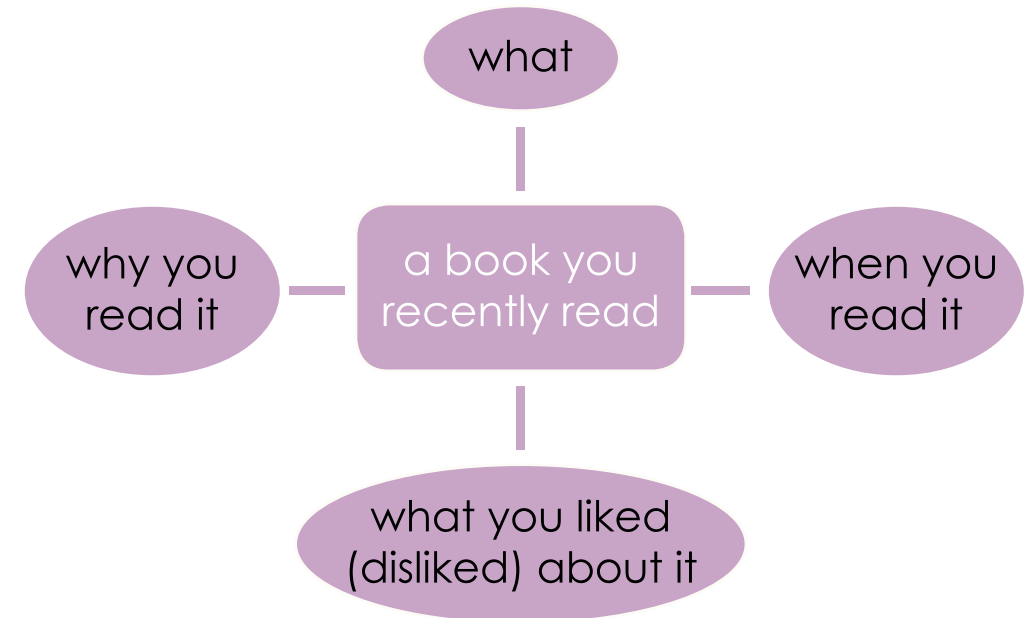

You should say:

what the book was

when you read it

why you read it and explain what you liked and possibly disliked about the book.

Homework: Please use the model for these two topics for further practice.

Describe a story about animals.

Describe an interesting story.

Review (2 minutes)

Key Words & Expressions

incredibly

emerge

circulation

dive into

on my own accord

primitive

Key Sentences

The weather in Beijing is incredibly unpleasant.

The only exception to that feeling is when the rain clears, and a blue sky emerges.

To counteract that effect, I will generally find a cool place with sufficient air circulation so that I can focus on whatever I might be doing.

The first time I dove into this book was when I was doing an assignment in school, which ended in a book report; and the second time I read the book, it was on my own accord.

I especially like how this story touches on the primitive instincts humans and animals share, as it pertains to re-entering the wilderness.

You will learn more about this topic in Lesson 2.