Model 2

What: My favorite pair of shoes that I have ever owned were perfectly suited to long distance running, and those shoes motivated me to wake up early every morning to begin my day with an energetic jog. It is those multi-colored shoes that I wish to discuss now.

What it looks like: My running shoes were both practical and generally multi-purposeful. Although my shoes were made out of synthetic material, they lasted me several years and several sporting events.

What occasion: I used to wear my running shoes all the time, even when I was not exercising. My shoes were best employed in helping me compete in marathons locally and abroad.

Why: The reason I chose to talk about these running shoes is not only because they were my first pair, but they motivated me to work out regularly. I spent so much money on my running shoes that not using them seemed like such a waste! In order to get the most use out of them, I would often wake up early in the morning just to go on a jog. Buying those running shoes was the most sound judgment I ever made when it came to getting in shape.

Example: The best way to deal with fashion, in my opinion, is to buy the pieces of clothing that rarely go out of style.
